MEXICAN REBEL ARMY CAPTURES JUAREZ

'ANANIAS' MEMBERS IN BOSTON

Roosevelt Declares With Anger He Never Said Taft Was Reactionary or People Needed 'Strong Hand'

Colonel Theodore Roosevelt began his second day of active campaigning in Boston for a third term as President by adding a Bostonian contingent to the waiting list of the famous Ananias Club.

He declared that he did not say that President Taft had lost the confidence of the people and that a strong hand was needed at the helm of the ship of state.

The Colonel did this in a chat with reporters which was very pleasant with the exception of this caloric outburst.

Then he dictated this statement for the newspapers:

I could not more definitely state my position on the great issues of the day than I stated it in my Columbus speech and again yesterday before the Massachusetts Legislature. In addition to calling attention to what I there said, on the subject of popular government, I also call particular attention to what I said at Columbus on the business situation and the proper attitude of the government toward business so as to insure conditions that will make for the prosperity of the business world and of all our people.

In my Ohio speech I dwelt with emphasis upon the two great subjects of immediate moment to our people, the need of having a real and not merely nominal popular rule and the need of securing prosperity for the business man, the wage-earner and the farmer alike. As I then said, I most emphatically believe that it is necessary to have an equitable division of prosperity, but that it behooves us to keep in mind that we cannot divide the prosperity unless the prosperity is here to divide, and that to secure the well-being of the business world is emphatically in the interest of every citizen of the United States.

"I cannot express myself more clearly than I do here."

Colonel Roosevelt today conferred with Governor Bass of New Hampshire and a delegation from that State.

Following this he went to Harvard and had luncheon at the Signet Club with his son Kermit, his nephew Phil and three other young Roosevelts who are attending Harvard.

The Colonel said that he did not intend to make any political speeches today.

The newspapermen saw the Colonel at the home of Grafton D. Cushing (Taft man), Speaker of the House of Representatives, on Beacon Hill. The Colonel, after yesterday's arduous duties, had slept until 9:30—something rare for him.

Colonel Gets Angry.

"I'm glad to see you, boys," said the colonel as he came down stairs swirling his eyeglasses and smiling genially.

He wore striped trousers and a dark gray business suit. Knotted at his throat was his new and very neat dotted blue four-in-hand tie. He looked fresh and fit.

"I'm sorry to keep you waiting," continued the Colonel, "but if I had come down when you first called I should have shattered the conventionalities of Beacon Hill. I was in my bath. But I'm here, boys, right side up and at your service."

It was at this time that one of the

Rhode Island Judge Holds Court In Auto

Officials Adjourn to Street in Central Falls As Prisoner Is Arraigned.

CENTRAL FALLS, R. I., Feb. 27.—For the first time in this State and probably in New England, a session of the court was held here today in an automobile. In the machine was Charles Tierney, thirty, who fought off the police with an axe early today when they entered his home at Arnold Mills to arrest him on an insanity charge. Tierney continued to fight all the way to the court house, where the machine was stopped.

The police were powerless to move Tierney. Taking the advice of Mahoney when the mountain refused to come to him, the local police moved court and court officers into the street. In the tonneau the session of the court was held, and Tierney was formally committed to the State Asylum. Chief of Police Burlingame of Cumberland and Policeman Scott appeared in bandages as a result of their fight with Tierney.

BEIRUT FOREIGNERS KILLED BY NATIVES

CONSTANTINOPLE, Feb. 27.—Several foreigners have been killed at Beirut, Syria, by natives, who looted the arsenals, following an attack on the town by an Italian flotilla, according to an official dispatch received here this evening.

PARIS, Feb. 27.—France has taken the leadership in a new international movement to end the Turco-Italian war, according to a semi-official note published here today. France is ready to act in concert with any power, the note says, with a view to bringing about peace through mediation. The shelling of Beirut is believed to be responsible for the latest peace movement.

SINFONIA MEMBERS GIVE MINSTREL SHOW

An abundance of humor and melody featured a minstrel entertainment by members of Alpha Chapter Sinfonia of the New England Conservatory of Music in Jordan Hall. The purpose was to secure means with which to assist needy students and add to the scholarship fund founded by Paderewski two years ago. The program was not devoid of "regime" features, several popular songs being admirably presented. The first part was the minstrel circle, with Frank O. Denton as interlocutor. The bones were Herbert C. Seiler and Homer Humphrey, while the tambos were handled by Vaughn Hamilton and Clifton W. Hatch.

STEAMERS KEPT AT WHARVES BY GALE

A sixty-mile gale and usually heavy seas swept the New England coast today, resulting in a deep of shipping in Boston and other ports and in damage to smaller craft. Steamers were delayed in sailing. One of the worst sufferers was the whaleback barge Portland, rammed by the whaleback steamer Bay Port, and towed into harbor here. The steamer Camden, scheduled to leave for Portland at 7 p. m. last night remained at her wharf all night. At Portland the Governor Dingley stayed at her pier.

$200,000 IS GIVEN TO HOLY JUMPERS

CHICAGO, Feb. 27.—Duke M. Farson, founder and main support of the Holiness Association, better known as the "Holy Jumpers," stripped himself yesterday of the last of his fortune by giving to that sect $200,000. He made $1,000,000 in banking. Every dollar of it has gone the same way. He says he will not try to make more money, but for the remainder of his life he will be "an humble pilgrim in the sight of the Lord, preaching the gospel in the highways and byways."

AVERT GREAT COAL STRIKE IN ENGLAND

LONDON, Feb. 27.—All indications late this afternoon point to the conclusion that a great national coal strike has been averted, and the basis of a settlement will probably be announced this evening. Previous to the announcement 12,000 miners in Nottinghamshire had joined the strikers.

CARS FALL 300 FEET IN A FREIGHT WRECK

ERIE, Pa., Feb. 27.—Twenty-nine cars were smashed, seven going over a 300-foot embankment in a freight wreck on the Erie railroad two miles west of Union City Pa., early today. Two tramps stealing rides are believed to have been killed.

3 INQUIRIES ON LAWRENCE STRIKE EXILES

Four investigations were started today of the Lawrence textile strike. One was begun by the federal authorities in Boston under the direction of United States District Attorney French, acting on orders that came direct from President Taft and Attorney-General Wickersham at Washington.

The second probe was started by Attorney-General Swift at the instigation of Governor Foss. The third investigation was made by Judge Mahoney in the District Court at Lawrence.

In addition to these was a fourth inquiry—planned to take place by a Congressional Committee. This investigation was temporarily obstructed in the House at Washington today.

The inquiries got underway simultaneously, and Federal, State and city authorities at once commenced a systematic and searching probe. The aim and purpose of each is to inquire into the forcible detention of the strikers' children Saturday by the Lawrence police. It is claimed that the police had no right to prevent the strike committee from shipping the children to Providence and Philadelphia.

Federal Inquiry Here.

The investigation by the government through the office of District Attorney French in Boston is the result of complaint made to President Taft by Congressman Victor Berger. The complaint charged that the act of the police in stopping the children was not only in violation of Constitutional rights of American citizens, but was really a violation of the Sherman Act regulating interstate commerce.

Mr. French's Statement.

United States District Attorney French said today:

"I have been requested by Attorney-General Wickersham to make certain inquiries with respect to the situation at Lawrence, but there should be no misunderstanding as to their scope. The law officers of the United States have no authority to investigate the strike in its general aspect. Their only authority is to ascertain whether or not the complaint which has been made to them, that the prevention by the local police of the transportation of children from Lawrence to Providence and Philadelphia, last Saturday, although under color of a Massachusetts statute, was in violation of the paramount law of the United States, and particularly whether or not it involved a conspiracy to restrain trade among the States under the criminal provisions of the Sherman act, on the ground that it unwarrantably interfered with a contract for interstate transportation of passengers by a common carrier.

"This investigation has, of course, nothing to do with the merits of the controversy at issue between the strikers and the mill owners. The inquiry will be conducted under my direction by officers of the Bureau of Investigation of the Department of Justice."

Inquiry By Attorney-General.

Attorney General Swift began his investigation of the forcible detention of children in Lawrence by local authorities there this afternoon. The Attorney General returned this morning from Washington, where he appeared before the Commonwealth before the United States Supreme Court in connection with the differential rates existing between Boston and other ports.

After communicating over the telephone with the Lawrence police and District Attorney Henry C. Attwill of Essex County Mr. Swift sent the following communication to Governor Foss:

To His Excellency, Eugene N. Foss, Governor of the Commonwealth:

Sir—Upon my return this morning from Washington, where I was appearing for the Commonwealth before the Supreme Court of the United States yesterday, I find your communication of February 26, being a copy of the telegram which had come to me last night en route requesting me to immediately make a rigid investigation into the matter of the detention of children in Lawrence and if I find that any citizen has been deprived of a lawful exercise of his constitutional rights, that I "immediately set in motion such machinery of the law as will guarantee to all citizens free and unimpeded exercise of these rights."

While I appear to have no authority in law to undertake such a matter as you request, I am desirous of assisting your excellency so far as I am able in a matter of such public interest. I have therefore ordered such investigation as I can into the situation with reference to the interference with the departure of children from Lawrence, and will report to your excellency at the earliest possible moment.

Very respectfully,
JAMES M. SWIFT,
Attorney-General.

Inquiry Side-tracked.

Dispatches from Washington today declared that the resolution aimed to secure an investigation of the Lawrence strike by a committee from Congress had been sidetracked in the House of Representatives through the objections entered by Representative Gillett of Massachusetts. Gillett declared that the time had not arrived when Massachusetts cannot cope with the strike situation.

Judge Mahoney started his probe at the sitting of the Lawrence District Court today. His investigation is planned to discover whether or not the parents of the children detained last Saturday are in destitute circumstances or are unable to provide for the little ones.

Cornered there, Akobehak turned at bay and drew a knife on the policeman, but Wadlin easily overpowered him and

CORBIN TAKES A BRIDE TOMORROW SAVES $75,000 BY MARRYING WIDOW

Mrs. Babbitt and Charles Corbin will wed tomorrow. Under the terms of Corbin's father's will Corbin will receive $75,000 as a result of the marriage, which will be within a specified time set by the will.

ATTACKS WIFE; KILLS HIMSELF

PORTSMOUTH, Feb. 27.—George J. Rand, thirty-three, a machinist at the navy yard here and formerly of South Boston, killed himself early today at his home on Newcastle avenue after he had choked his wife and driven her and their ten-year-old daughter Doris into the street. Rand was found with his throat cut when neighbors accompanied his wife and child into the house today.

Rand had been under the care of a physician, suffering from the effects of intoxication. He became unruly this morning. Mrs. Rand said he tried to kill her and that she was forced to flee for her life. She and her daughter escaped to the home of David Fech, a rail collector on the Newcastle bridge, in their night clothing.

Son of Hardware Trust Head Will Wed Mrs. Mona Drew Babbitt of Mansfield.

Charles Corbin, of New Britain, Ct., son of the late Philip Corbin of hardware trust fame, will tomorrow take unto himself a wife, incidentally, he will take $75,000, which accrues under the terms of his father's will, if he marries within a specified time.

Yet Corbin is the author of that famous epigram: "He who marries a second time did not deserve to lose his first wife." He will wed Mrs. Mona Drew Babbitt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Prince A. Drew of Mansfield.

Corbin's first wife, Lillian Ursula Blakeslee, obtained a divorce in 1908, after a separation of fifteen years, on grounds of intoxication, cruelty and desertion.

The fact that Corbin was left $75,000 and had merely to be married to get the other half of $150,000, gave rise to many and varied stories of women who were said to be about to marry him. Corbin, however, was said to have become a confirmed, bachelor recluse.

Since the story came out that Corbin, who practically had said the $75,000 could go to grass, had determined he might as well save it after all, and that he would marry "an auburn-haired widow residing in a Massachusetts city." Mrs. Frances Vincent, at whose home he once stayed at Martha's Vineyard, was the woman rumor favored, despite her own denials.

Mrs. Blakeslee, the divorced wife, by whom Corbin had two children, is living in New York. Although no longer young, she is still beautiful.

The romance of Corbin and Mrs. Babbitt centres at Martha's Vineyard. She stopped at the Wesley House, overlooking Lake Anthony, at the time he was at Mrs. Vincent's.

$2,000 DAMAGE BY BLAZE IN MELROSE

Fire in the basement of the Rogers block, Franklin street, Melrose Highlands, early today, did $2,000 damage. Hosemen Hawley of the Melrose department severely gashed his hand while attempting to break a window. The fire started beneath the grocery store of Oliver E. Hawes at No. 415 Franklin street and worked its way to the first floor. The art store belonging to George A. Brennan, was damaged to the extent of $500 by smoke and water.

MOULDER'S WIFE GETS $2,000,000

Mrs. John D. Gregory of Watertown learned today she has become heir to the greater part of $2,000,000 left her by an uncle in the Far West.

"This means that my husband won't have to work over the hot moulds in the foundry any more," said Mrs. Gregory when she learned of her good fortune.

The uncle was Arthur Randall, a wealthy steel manufacturer, who died in the West recently. He was seventy-five years old.

Mrs. Gregory is the wife of John D. Gregory, an iron moulder.

Mr. Randall, who left the fortune, was, aside from being engaged in the manufacture of steel, an owner of several mines, all of which will fall into the hands of Mrs. Gregory. This fact was made known to her by her uncle's lawyers. She also will get a large portion of real estate after everything is cleared up.

"The news of the fortune left me by my uncle was a surprise to me," said Mrs. Gregory today. "It was totally unexpected. I am making preparations to go West with my husband at the earliest possible moment. My plans for the future are not yet made. There is one thing settled, though, and that is that my husband will not have to bend over any more hot moulds in the foundry. I shall do my utmost to make him happy with my new fortune.

"Some time ago I visited my uncle out West and had quite a talk with him. I knew he was wealthy, but never for a moment suspected that he would remember me so substantially as he has. I am really so bewildered at the thought of being left so much money that I feel all at sea as to what I shall do with it."

CONGO STEAMSHIP SINKS; 32 DROWNED

REBELS CAPTURE JUAREZ

Insurgents Under General Campa Take the City After Sharp Attack; no Resistance Made by Federal Garrison.

EL PASO, Tex., Feb. 27.—The Mexican rebels have captured the city of Juarez.

The rebel forces began firing on the city at 10:05 a. m. today, after the Mayor had refused to surrender.

The march on Jurez was begun at dawn, and by 9 o'clock 700 rebels, under command of General Campa, had reached a point which brought the city within range of the light artillery. The firing could be heard plainly on this side of the border.

The federal garrison made no resistance, but instead fired a salute of honor on the approach of the rebel army. In other words, the garrison went over to the rebels without a hostile shot being fired.

Colonel Steever's American troops are prepared to demand order if the rebels began firing into El Paso. So far no trouble has been experienced, but Colonel Steever says it may break out at any moment.

EL PASO, Tex., Feb. 27.—At 7:45 a. m. the entire force of Rebels was reported moving on Juarez, Mexico. At 6 a. m. a small body, probably of scouts, was seen approaching from the southward.

A message received today says that Mexican insurgents are shooting up the town of Eagle Pass, Texas.

The rebels marching on Juarez carried a reg flag beneath the Mexican tri-color.

The rebel army stopped its progress toward Juarez at 8:20 a. m. after taking a position on a hill overlooking the city, on exactly the spot from which the Madero army fired the first shots at the entrenched Juarez outposts, a year ago. From this point they made their successful attack upon the city.

The United States regulars, now in El Paso, include the Twenty-second Infantry and one battery of field artillery, which arrived in the night, four companies of the Eighteenth Infantry, and four troops of the Forty-fifth Cavalry.

Colonel E. Z. Steever, commanding the Fourth Cavalry Regiment, is in command of the American patrol. The soldiers are stationed in the downtown district, except the artillery, which detrained this morning at 7 at Fort Bliss, five miles out from town.

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., Feb. 27.—It is reported here that four Americans have been killed by Mexican rebels in trying to relieve the employes besieged on the Morris ranch, opposite Sierra Blanca.

PARIS HAS FETE TO HONOR FLAMMARION

PARIS, Feb. 27.—Paris celebrated last night the sixty-ninth birthday of Camille Flammarion, the silver jubilee of his having founded the Astronomical Society of France and the fifteenth anniversary of the publication of his first book. To a correspondent the celebrated astronomer said:

"There surely exists a psychic world where human beings are endowed with unknown faculties, the existence of which they do not yet even suspect. We move in an unknown world, which, however, is different from saying that the world is peopled with spirits. I applaud all efforts made to discover the truth, although in nine cases out of ten the manifestations about which there is so much talk are frauds."

UMPIRES SIGNED FOR BAY STATE LEAGUE

President Lally of the Bay State League announces the staff of umpires for the coming season as follows: Robert Suppie of Newton, Harry Marney of Lowell, John Gaffney of Providence, James Merrill of New Bedford, Frank Connell of Worcester, Joseph (Skin) Wadsworth of Hyde Park, "Chick" Winters, the last named owner of the Warrens, has been signed by Harry Dennis for the South Framingham Club of the Bay State League. Secretary Ford of the league has states that Lowe, the outfielder of Woonsocket, is being considered for a berth on the Taunton Club.

ROOSEVELT CONFERS WITH LOCAL POLITICIANS

The Colonel was angry. His eyes flashed and his teeth shot out gleams. He put his eyeglasses on and then took them off. This is what he said:

That's a deliberate falsehood. I never said that President Taft had lost the confidence of the people.

I never said that I believed that President Taft had grown reactionary.

I never said that President Taft had turned more and more from the people.

I never said anything about the need of a strong man at the helm or a man who grows progressive in his office and not reactionary, with the inference, that I was the man for the place and that President Taft is not.

That story is an unqualified and seemingly a deliberate falsehood. I never mentioned President Taft's name yesterday.

And let me tell you some more: I've been treated very kindly by the newspaper men in Boston, but if anybody tries to tell you in the third person that I said this or that, you'll be pretty safe in putting it down as false.

I'll talk for myself, and I'll talk in the first person, and I'll talk directly to you. I'll know then what I'm talking about and you'll know, too.

The Colonel stopped talking then, except to say that he would dictate something which he did. Then there was a ring at the door bell.

Greets Governor Bass.

"Governor Bass," announced a young man.

The Governor came in. So did a large delegation of New Hampshire Progressives.

"Governor," said the Colonel, "I'm delighted to meet you. (The Colonel had spent some hours with the Governor yesterday.) But for a while I'm in the hands of the enemy, you see—so, I'll not say that—I'm in the hands of the people that hold our fates—these are the Boston newspaper men and clooking them over carefully, they're not a bad looking outfit, either."

Dines with Dr. Lowell.

The Colonel then announced his day's program. It was this:

"I'm going to leave here about 12:30. I'll go to the Signet Club and have luncheon with my son Kermit and my nephew Phil. There are five young Roosevelts over there and maybe they'll all be there. I'm going to meet Dean Briggs and Professor Roscoe Pound. Then I'll make a short stay at the Hasty Pudding Club and meet professor Copeland.

"I'll have dinner this evening with President Lowell and then swing back and stay over night with Dr. William S. Bigelow on Beacon street. He's an old friend. There will be no political speeches today."

The Colonel then turned his attenaion to his New Hampshire backers, composed of the following delegation:

Governor Robert P. Bass of New Hampshire, his brother, John Bass; Clarence E. Clough, of Lebanon, N. H., chairman of the Republican State Committe; Frank A. Musgrove of Hanover, N. H., Speaker of the House of Representatives and secretar of the Republican State Committee; the following members of the Governor's Council; Benjamin F. Greer of Goffstown, Dr. John M. Gile of Hanover and William B. Rotch of Milford; Harry K. Torrey of Portsmouth, secretary to the Governor; Representative Oliver L. Frisbee of Portsmouth; Daniel C. Remick of Littleton, member of the State Committee, and Robert L. Manning of Manchester.

With the New Hampshire party was Colonel Fred P. Hale, son of the late United States Senator Eugene Hale of Portland, Maine. Colonel Roosevelt greeted the son of his old friend very heartily as Mr. Hale entered the door.

FITCHBURG, Feb. 27.—General Nelson A. Miles, who came here to attend the funeral of his brother, who died suddenly in New York, was asked today if he did not think it rather strange that Colonel Roosevelt should announce himself as a candidate for the presidency after he had told the American people that he wouldn't be a candidate again.

"Strange?" exclaimed the general, "no, that man is consumed by his own conceit and is liable to do anything."

Asked if he didn't think President Taft's friends would feel hurt at Roosevelt's attitude, he replied:

"He hasn't any feeling for anyone but Roosevelt, or any such feeling that controls a gentleman.

"He never will be nominated by the Republican convention, and even if he should happen to secure the candidate of the party he would be the strongest man that ever ran for the presidency.

"I know of thousands of Republicans who will support the Democratic candidate, no matter who he may be, in preference to the opposition party, if Colonel Roosevelt should run."

Roosevelt Napoleon Reincarnated, Says Mary Garden--Besides, "He's Picturesque, Like I Am"

Mary Garden also avers that an woman is interesting until she is thirty, and no man until he is fifty. "When a man's fifty a woman can tell whether he's a real man or a stuffed turkey parading in tailor-made clothes," she declares.

OPERA STAR BELIEVES NO MAN IS INTERESTING UNTIL HE IS FIFTY, AND COLONEL CAN QUALIFY ON THAT SCORE.

By FREDERICK JOHNS.

Theodore Roosevelt is Napoleon Bonaparte reincarnated, Mary Garden says so.

The soul of the great Emperor is doing business in the Rough Rider, and like Napoleon, Theodore will sweep everything before him.

President Taft? A very nice gentleman, a little fat, but that does not hurt him. Only he is in the path of a conqueror, and he will be pushed aside as Napoleon drove the Bourbons from France when he returned.

And why not? When the gods arrive the half-gods have to depart.

It was in her dressing room at the Boston Opera House that Mary Garden turned her attention to politics. She had just come from the stage, having fallen in a swoon as Marguerite before the dire threats of Mephistopheles, hidden in the wall of the church.

As we talked, the stirring strains of the "Soldiers' Chorus" were wafted through the fireproof doors. Miss Garden wore her hair down her back in a long braid, and wore a coquettish little black cap on the golden tresses.

Marguerite always wears a blonde wig, but I am going to give Miss Garden the benefit of the doubt and believe that it was her own luxuriant plumage which was bound in the braid she played with as she talked.

"My goodness, but I am tired," she exclaimed. "This riding around in trains may be all right for a man, but it is not good for a woman. I should like to go to sleep for a week or two. What particular kind of thing do you want to talk about?"

"Politics."

"Roosevelt Stirs Things Up."

"Huh. Why should a woman be asked to talk politics when she can't vote? However, I don't mind informing you that I know something about politics."

"How do you stand on the Roosevelt candidacy?"

"Me for him," declared Miss Garden, waving the braid of Marguerite around like a lasso. "I am for Roosevelt first, last and all the time. He is a great man.

"Do you know what I think? I think he is Napoleon Bonaparte come back again. He is going to lead this country out of its troubles like a Moses, and Mary Garden is in favor of letting great men fulfil their destiny."

"What makes you like him so much?"

"Oh, I don't know. He is a picturesque personality, like I am. He plunges in and stirs things up. Things ought to be stirred up. It is not only interesting and entertaining but it is good for them.

"Besides I am in love with his personality. I met him at a reception given him by the President of France in the Elysee Palace, and I sang for him. I shall never forget how splendid he looked, and I was proud to be an American to see him standing there among those talented and cultured Europeans, all of whom extended him the respect and honor due a very great man.

"I think when a country has a great man it ought to give itself into his charge and let him guide its destinies. President Taft is all right. I do not blame him because he is fat. I am in sympathy with him, because a lady with a figure has to be careful. Eternal vigilance is the price of a shape as well as liberty."

"Speaking of liberty, you told me last Summer in Paris you were thinking of getting married?"

"Nothing doing. I shall confine myself to thinking of it. Thinking never hurt anybody. Nevertheless, I am not going to encumber the stage forever. I shall retire at the height of my success and then no one can say that Mary Garden is too old or she ought to have a benefit or anything like that."

"What do you think is the best age to retire?"

"That depends. For me, I shall not sing a day after I am forty-four. I shall find some hole, crawl in, pull the hole in after me, and exit Mary Garden."

"Ahem, and in how many years will you be forty-four?"

"Such impudence. I won't tell you. How many do you think?"

"Twenty," said I gallantly.

"Twenty. That would make me now twenty-four years old. Quit it. Anybody could see I was older than that."

"I assure you."

"Bah!" said Mary, shaking her finger. "Anyway, no woman is even interesting until she is thirty. Then she begins to know enough to be tolerable."

"How about men?"

"A man," declared Miss Garden, emphatically, "a man is not interesting or attractive until he is fifty. A man of fifty is in the prime of life. He may be still fine looking, and he still retains his joy of living.

"He has had a career by that time and a woman knows whether he is a real man or a stuffed turkey parading around in tailor-made clothes. You never can tell when they are younger.

Longs to Stay in Boston.

"That's why I like Theodore Roosevelt. He is only fifty, and what a glorious career he has behind him. Is it any wonder that I admire him?

"I suppose there are idiotic women who prefer a rosy-cheeked boy with a waistline to a man with a great career and a few scars and a forty-inch waist. They can have them.

"Operas don't wear as well as men, some of them. 'Faust' is a very old opera, don't you think? I wish I had made my first appearance in something else. I hope to sing Carmen here soon. I sang it in New York last week. The critics didn't criticise me; they backed me. They treated me like the Turks treat an Armenian Christian.

"Such brutality should have been made the subject of a protest from the Powers. Nevertheless, I don't think they gave me a square deal, for when I had passed over the abuse to find the criticism, it wasn't there. I am interested to see how Boston will like my Carmen.

"I should like to sing here for twenty weeks instead of helping the Pullman company keep out of bankruptcy by jumping around the country.

"Is Boston a nice place to spend a long time in? I never was here for more than a few days, but it always seemed comfy and quiet.

"Don't you sleep well in Philadelphia?"

"Chestnuts," replied Miss Garden.

AID FAMILY OF MAN IN JAIL

Judge Fallon in the South Boston District Court today directed that Suffolk County pay to a woman, whose husband the judge had sent to jail, fifty cents a day for the maintenance of her and her seven children while her husband is locked up.

The case was that of Karl Gallo of E street, South Boston, charged with not supporting his wife and children. The wife did not appear, sending word that if she came to court she would lose a chance to earn a dollar. After hearing the story of Agent Charles A. Stoddard of the Overseers of the Poor, Judge Fallon sentenced Gallo to two months in the House of Correction.

OLYMPIC HITS WRECK AT SEA

BELFAST, Ire., Feb. 27.—For the second time within six months the giant White Star liner Olympic, the biggest ship afloat, has been so badly damaged that she must go into drydock, according to a wireless message received here today.

The Olympic, which sailed from New York, Wednesday February 21, ran into a wreck in midocean and lost a propeller. The liner is already overdue, being one of the five-day ocean greyhounds, and will not arrive here until Friday.

After leaving New York the ship ran into gales which have been prevailing over the north Atlantic for two weeks.

The Olympic was rammed by the British protected cruiser Hawke in the Solent in September, and was badly damaged then.

COURT ADMITS BRANDT TO BAIL

NEW YORK, Feb. 27.—Foulke E. Brandt, former valet to Mortimer L. Schiff, was admitted to bail in the sum of $2,500 this afternoon by Judge Crain in General Sessions on a charge of burglary. The charge of felonious assault pending against Brandt, in which case Mr. Schiff is the complaining witness, was not heard. Brandt did not appear, his interests being represented by his attorney, M. J. Towns. It is not believed Brandt will be released until tomorrow, as he fears to leave the Tombs in consequence of rumors of a plot against him.

Mr. Schiff has issued a statement in defence of the honor of himself, Mrs. Schiff and Howard S. Gans, his counsel, which had been handed either directly or by implication by those fighting for the release of Brandt.

The banker declares that the origin of the trouble with Brandt was an impudent and sentimental letter which Brandt had written Mrs. Schiff, with the result that she became so frightened that she locked herself in the nursery with the children until her husband came home. The letter quoted shows the writer to have a person of little culture, of slight education and with only a smattering of English and the following excerpts will indicate:

Dearest lady—please have indulgence and pardon my liberty, for which I have already been willing you this for me so important and particular letter.

I am a poor fellow, but I have a heart which I would part with to a lady which I love dearly, in spite (It is you dearest lady).

I am perfectly alone in this country, no real friends no relation whatever. I do not mix up with servants as I find more pleasure to associate with people better than I am.

not no if you are interest or like my person but I do no that I am sure good of you as I never resigned I like and admire you emenely, my feelings towards you dear lady have grown every day in larger circumference.

"I Was Born a Baron."

I was born a baron, my mother a baroness died three years after my birth. She was wealthy when she died.

I will not tire you longer, but if you have the silliest liking or symthy for me thinks the world of you, I wish of my heart you would use me and have confidence in me, I am not sole to marry nor elder can I because you madam has me with body and soul. You may be not no or believe it but I do. I will do anything in the world for you which is in my power.

P. S.—This is a free country and I have a right to love you if I want to. For mercy dont show this to your husband.

Mr. Schiff's statement also includes the story of the coming of Brandt to the Schiff home, substantially as published some days ago.

BABY RESCUED FROM FIRE TODAY IN THE WEST END

MATCH PLAYING FIRES BUILDING

Ida Swerlin, five years old, and her brother, George, three, playing with matches when left alone in their home today, started a fire that sent the tenants of the four-story tenement at No. 60 Poplar street, West End, scurrying out doors.

When their mother, Mrs. Bessie Swerlin, returned from the grocery store, she found the curtains and a clothes closet in which the children had been left, ablaze. She seized her youngest child, Meyer, who is six months old, and George and ran to the street, followed by Ida.

Mrs. Dora Baker, who occupies the second floor, was ill in bed and was forced to flee scantily clad. Mrs. Mollie Levine escaped from the third floor with her two children, but forgot her pet dog. She fears he was overcome by smoke, but in the excitement she was locked out of her room and could not return to rescue him. Mrs. Sarah Kadis, who lives on the fourth floor, ran down stairs unassisted.

There are sixteen children living in the house, but as the fire occurred just after school opened, only the three young children of Mrs. Swerlin were at home.

The damage was slight.

HARVARD BENEFITS BY DR. HALL'S WILL

The will of the Rev. Dr. Edward H. Hall of Cambridge, former pastor of the First Parish Church (Unitarian), Cambridge, who died at his home February 22, has been filed at the Probate Court, East Cambridge, and among the bequests are many public ones, including one for the president and fellows of Harvard for unrestricted use in the library department of $10,000, and one of $5,000 to the library of the Harvard Divinity School, that sum to be added to the fund now known as the Louisa J. Hall fund. The Massachusetts Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children is bequeathed $10,000, the Cambridge Visiting Nurse Association $5,000, and to the Cambridge Hospital such sum as may be necessary to establish a free bed.

10 DEAD, 25 HURT IN ARKANSAS CYCLONES

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Feb. 27.—Details of a double tornado, which devastated portions of Lincoln, Jefferson and Arkansas counties, place the list of dead at ten, with at least twenty-five persons severely hurt. Handsome homes, plantation equipment, rice and pumping stations caught in the path of the storm were wrecked. The residence of Ed Johnson, near Almyra, in Arkansas County, was carried forty feet from its foundation. Six persons in this house were killed outright. Mr. Johnson and one child escaped instant death, but they were perhaps fatally injured. Apparently there were two storms—one struck the eastern portion of Jefferson County while that in Arkansas County is reported to have swept in an hour earlier.

BROCKTON WOMAN RESCUED FROM FIRE

BROCKTON, Feb. 27.—Miss Jane Mottau, president of the Clark Ladies' Aid Society and daughter of City Forester Edward Mottau of this city, was rescued by firemen early today from a fire that destroyed the Mottau home at No. 82 Spring street, this city. Miss Mottau was taken down by flights of stairs through the smoke. The other house hands had escaped to the street before the firemen arrived. The damage amounted to $5,000.

PHONOGRAPH PLAYS DURING OPERATION

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27.—While a phonograph in the same room played a grand aria, Preston Gibson, millionaire cotillion leader, was operated upon for appendicitis yesterday. Mr. Gibson refused to take an anaesthetic and watched the surgeons at work. His condition is favorable.

TELLS US HOW TO GET RID OF BAD COLDS AND GRIPPE IN FEW HOURS.

You can surely end Grippe and break up the most severe cold either in head, chest, back, stomach or limbs, by taking a dose of Pape's Cold Compound every two hours until three consecutive doses are taken.

It promptly relieves the most miserable headache, dullness, head and nose stuffed up, feverishness, sneezing, sore throat, mucous catarrhal discharges, running of the nose, soreness, stiffness and rheumatic twinges.

Take this harmless Compound as directed, without interference with your usual duties and with the knowledge that there is no other medicine made anywhere else in the world, which will cure your cold or end Grippe misery as promptly and without any other assistance or bad after-effects as a 25-cent package of Pape's Cold Compound, which any druggist in the world can supply.

Pape's Cold Compound is the result of three years' research at a cost of more than fifty thousand dollars, and contains no quinine, which we have conclusively demonstrated is not effective in the treatment of colds or grippe.

MRS. STUART IN COURT AGAIN

Mrs. Georgia M. Stuart, the friend and alleged accomplice of A. W. Shaw, the absconding shoe manufacturer of Everett, Mo., who was arrested in Los Angeles, Cal., on information furnished by the AMERICAN, faced Judge Burke today in the criminal session of the Municipal Court on a continuance of her case from a week ago. At the request of Assistant District Attorney Lavelle another continuance was granted by the court to allow action by the March Grand Jury in the Shaw case. After a conference between counsel and Judge Burke it was decided that Mrs. Stuart should be given a hearing March 12.

Mrs. Stuart was in court but a short time today. She entered the courtroom at 9:55, accompanied by Pat Murray Lewis of Spaulding & Lewis, a law firm at No. 10 Tremont street. Mrs. Stuart took a seat in the rear of the room behind the spectators, where she remained until called by Clerk John Barry.

Heavily Veiled.

Mrs. Stuart was garbed entirely in black, with a heavy veil which so protected her that her features could not be seen. About her neck was clasped a mink necklace. Mrs. Stuart wore a black hat and close fitting gown, tightly buttoned up black coat.

Attorney Lewis conferred with Judge Burke half an hour before the court opened. Lewis said that the continuance of two weeks desired by the prosecution was satisfactory, and Judge Burke said it would be granted, but that Mrs. Stuart must appear in court before him. Lewis left the courthouse, going to his office. He returned twenty minutes later with his client, followed by several newspaper men and photographers.

Lewis talked for a while with Inspector Gaddis, who arrested Mrs. Stuart on the charge of being the accomplice of A. W. Shaw, who laid plans to have Mrs. Stuart join him in California, where he was living under an assumed name.

Case Put Over Two Weeks.

Shortly after 10 o'clock Clerk Barry asked Lewis if he was ready to go on with the case.

"Yes," replied the lawyer.

"Call the lady, then," said the clerk.

Lewis went over to where Mrs. Stuart was seated, whispered to her, and in a moment the pair moved up to the bar where they stood together before Judge Burke.

Inspector Gaddis stood at the farther end of the bench. Judge Burke said he understood the case was to be continued for two weeks at the request of District Attorney's office. Gaddis and Lewis told the court this was correct. Judge Burke then ordered the case continued until March 12.

Mrs. Stuart, when arraigned a week ago today, was held in $2,000 bail. This was later lowered to $2,000, which surety was furnished by friends.

Jacob W. Aulick, treasurer of the A. W. Shaw Shoe Company, and partner of Arthur Willis Shaw, of Everett, Mo., arrived in Los Angeles, charged with stealing $10,000 belonging to the company. He declared today that he was through with the alleged defaulter forever.

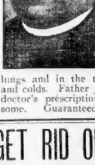
The greatest surprise is expressed in Freeport by those who knew Shaw when they learned that he claimed he had given all his money to Mrs. Stuart.

How Many Women Keep Young

"A woman may be old at 18 and young at 80," says Mrs. Margaret Holmes Bates, prominent Chicago club woman. "Years don't matter. John Ninon de l'Enclos have a proposal at 90!"

The youth of our women is more lasting than it was a generation ago, because we are becoming acquainted with simple physiological laws. When the first aging marks appear—wrinkles, baggy cheeks, neck and chin—we realize that the cause is a loosening of the skin and softening of the tissue underneath. We know the cause must be removed. Instead of laying on pastes we send to the drug store for an ounce of saxolite and a half pint of witch hazel, mix them and bathe face, neck and hands in the solution. We know this tightens the skin, solidifies the tissue, induces a healthy circulation. We treat causes rather than effects. We use reason—and stay young.

BE CAREFUL WHAT YOU TAKE FOR COLDS



The danger in using patent medicines is from the cumulative and dangerous drugs which many of them depend on for their temporary effect. Because it is free from alcohol, narcotics and dangerous drugs, Father John's Medicine has had 50 years of success as a tonic and body builder, for healing throat and lungs and in the treatment of coughs and colds. Father John's Medicine is a doctor's prescription—pure and wholesome. Guaranteed.

GOVERNOR BASS' ESTIMATE OF THEODORE ROOSEVELT

Colonel Roosevelt is stouter than he was when he returned from Africa. He hasn't aged perceptibly. He is endowed with the same old trip-hammer vigor and that good humor and exuberance. If anything, his smile has grown broader and his jaw more firm.—Robert P. Bass, Governor of New Hampshire.

Governor Bass Tells Why He Thinks Roosevelt Is the Man of the Hour.

(By ROBERT P. BASS, Governor of New Hampshire.)

"What impressed me most about Theodore Roosevelt this visit was his tremendous energy and his capacity for hard work. I was also deeply impressed with his conciseness.

"He is stouter than he was when he returned from Africa. Otherwise he is about the same in looks, speech and dress. He hasn't aged perceptibly. He is endowed with the same old triphammer vigor and that good humor and exuberance that ever have been characteristic.

THEODORE ROOSEVELT — JUDGE ROBERT GRANT

Colonel Roosevelt and Judge Robert Grant talking together just outside Judge Grant's home at No. 211 Bay State road. The photograph, by American staff photographer, shows Colonel Roosevelt in a characteristic attitude.

"If anything his smile has grown broader and his jaw more firm. I didn't notice that his hair was any sparser or whiter, but then I've seen him considerable this Fall and may not be so susceptible to any physical changes in him. However, I don't think our former President has been changed a great deal by the weight or duties of the past four years.

"He is still the Teddy of old and is likely to be for years to come. Fortunate indeed is a man to be blessed with such vigor of body and mind.

"Mr. Roosevelt is a man of unusual courage. He is determined. He is sincere. He drives straight for the mark. There is no wavering or indecision. He is fearless. His judgment is swift and sure. He has the courage of his convictions. He is a born leader and possesses inherent executive powers.

"He is a big man mentally and physically. He is big enough for any job and suited therefore for the biggest job in the gift of man —the Presidency of the United States, which I firmly believe he is destined to enjoy a third term.

"Another thing very noticeable to me was his deliberation, a faculty that in him has developed to a marked degree. He seemed less impulsive. He has just as much spirit and fire, but appeared more conservative in many ways.

"Never have I beheld a mmm wonderful power of concentration or greater control of mind. I noticed that he exercised a system in tackling everything. He was ready for each thing in order. In taking up one thing he was never annoyed or hampered by another. He does one thing at a time and with dispatch and precision.

"Marvelous Concentration."

"Once rounded out or attended to, every thought and act is set behind him. Thus he is prepared to take up the next with a clear mind. He has a knack of directing his mind to the thing at hand and disposing of it without waste of thought or energy. This requires marvelous concentration. It really astonished me. It is an enviable gift. He may have developed it to a high degree, but I fancy much of it must have come natural.

"That accounts for his ability to undergo heavy responsibilities and to pass through the most strenuous affairs without apparent ill effect. That accounts also for his being able to cope with the most minute and arduous duties during his two terms as President, to delve into matters that few executives had time or patience for, and to come out fresh and rugged and ready for more. That is what makes him fit timber for so heavy a role.

"The notion that Mr. Roosevelt is not out for a third term because of the glitter and excitement of it all is wrong. It has been contended in certain circles that he couldn't resist the old fever; that he wanted the limelight and publicity. Nothing of the sort.

"He Sees Grave Duty."

"Mr. Roosevelt has tossed his hat into the ring and jumped in after it because of a summons to perform a grave duty. He realizes the nature of the problem that he faces. It is no idle fancy, no selfish motive, no freak political stunt.

"He is simply responding to public demand. He feels it his plain duty. He feels that he can help solve the numerous problems that today confront the nation. He has analyzed and studied the situation. He is familiar with the conditions of the present day. He knows what ought to be done—what must be done.

"A new political era is dawning. The will of the masses must prevail. New and throbbing economic issues have developed. Problems have arisen in the courts, in factory, mart and home. They must be solved to the satisfaction of the majority—to the satisfaction of the public at large. A progressive movement is rampant. It is given impetus by public demand.

"Public will has a right to be heard and to be appeased. In the progressive platform lies the remedy, and Theodore Roosevelt is the best man in the land to champion such a cause. That is why he is in the ring, and let me say he is very much in it.

"He has a job to perform. He is the best man for it. He is not entering the political arena again for self-glory or to attack anyone. He is not jumping into the ring as a kicker. He is there for a solemn purpose. He is there to construct rather than to antagonize, upset or destroy. He is there to create and strengthen.

"Answers Public Call."

"He has come back because the great American public wanted him. He is probably not the choice of the politicians, but eventually they will be compelled to give him their support, popular sentiment will be so strongly in his favor.

"Mr. Roosevelt is sought by the rank and file of voters. You hear his name mentioned favorably in hotel lobby, in street cars, on the corners and in the shops. A third term for Roosevelt is the slogan, and it will land him in the White House again. It is bound to. Nothing can stem the tide of popular favor. He is the man of the hour.

"It pleased me to think he came out so squarely. He will carry the progressive movement to victory. I hope the voters will have the opportunity to express their preference between him and other candidates. If they do he will carry the election at the polls.

"Theodore Roosevelt is to be the big figure in the coming Presidential election. He is an advocate of young blood. There will be plenty of young blood instilled into the coming campaign. The New England forces are already in the field."

MOTHER OFFERS BLOOD TOO LATE

Mrs. Ezra F. Melendy of No. 34 Hemwick road, Wakefield, is today under a doctor's care, following her collapse when her nine-year-old son, Clifford, died in the Massachusetts General Hospital just as she was preparing for the transfusion of her blood in an attempt to save his life.

The boy was struck by the Portland express out of Boston. Returning from playing with a school mate he walked along the railroad track toward his home. He was near the Greenwood bridge when he was struck.

The express, its engineer evidently ignorant of the accident, disappeared in a cloud of dust and it was not till a following local train came along that the crushed body of the lad was discovered beside the track.

MARY GARDEN BACK IN 'FAUST'

Mary Garden sang in Boston for the first time this season last night. The opera was "Faust," which was given its sixth performance, and probably for that reason the house was not completely sold out.

Most of Miss Garden's admirers prefer to see her in "Thais" and "Mellisande." As Marguerite they can only hear her.

Miss Garden was the only interesting feature of an otherwise dull performance. Whether she sings well or ill she impresses it upon you that she is somebody, and that is the sort of people stars are made from.

REDUCED THIRTY POUNDS IN THIRTY DAYS

NEW DRUGLESS TREATMENT FOR FAT FOLKS PROVES SUCCESSFUL.

The truth of the claim made by W. L. Schmitz, of Montevideo, Minn., and Dr. J. J. Bright, of Covington, Kentucky, that they reduced their weight thirty pounds in thirty days has been fully established. The facts are proven by careful investigation.

It has been shown that Dr. Bright, of Covington, Ky., is an eminent physician with forty years' practice to his credit, yet he was powerless, with all his drugs and medicines, to reduce his enormous weight, and he was obliged to purchase the Marjorie Hamilton drugless fat reducing treatment in order to pull down his enormous rolls of fat.

W. L. Schmitz, of Montevideo, Minn., was another astonishing case, where the enormous amount of fat reduced by him was disputed by some people until the actual proofs were made.

Marjorie Hamilton, the famous Calendar Girl of Denver, now stands in lone distinguishment as the founder of her great fat-reducing treatment without drugs, without dieting, and with no medicine, appurtenance or harmful exercises. Her treatment is a God-send to fat humanity, and it is said that nearly three hundred women sanitariums are necessary to enable her to carry on her enormous business in Denver, which occupies one of the largest buildings in that city.

It is said that French actresses and court ladies of Europe are in ecstasies over the marvelous results of this new drugless treatment, which enables the social set to keep down their ponderous weight and reduce their forms to beautiful proportions.

The new drugless treatment of this famous Calendar Girl is enabling womankind to so beautify their figures as to bring to their face the whole secret of man and every worldly joy.

It is evident that the Marjorie Hamilton drugless treatment is destined to overshadow all others, and competitors are now appalled with her stupendous success, and stand aghast in amazement at the result at her wondrous skill.

Marjorie Hamilton absolutely controls the fat market of the world with her drugless fat-reducing treatment, which reduced her own weight thirty-seven pounds in five weeks, and which has given her the largest business of its kind in the world.

Miss Hamilton believes that honesty does live and that progress is real, and she is the first on earth to prove absolutely that there is a positive, simple drugless treatment of permanent fat reduction.

It is said that 200,000 fat men and women in all parts of the world have written to Marjorie Hamilton for her valuable book entitled "Weight Reduction Without Drugs," which she sends free in her eagerness to benefit fat folks and to enable them to learn of her remarkable treatment, so that they may remove their fat and know the joy of a form of grace and beauty.

Any readers who desire to remove excess weight, should write for a copy of the book at once, before the last edition is exhausted. Address Marjorie A. Hamilton, Central Bank Bldg., Denver, Colo.

BILIOUSNESS, SALLOW SKIN, HEADACHE, SLUGGISH BOWELS—TAKE CASCARETS

You're bilious, you have a throbbing sensation in your head, a bad taste in your mouth, your eyes burn, your skin is yellow, with dark rings under your eyes, your lips are parched. No wonder you feel ugly, mean and ill-tempered. Your system is full of bile not properly passed off, and what you need is a cleaning up inside. Don't continue being a bilious nuisance to yourself and those who love you, and don't resort to harsh physics that irritate and injure. Remember that every disorder of the stomach, liver and intestines can be quickly cured by morning with gentle, thorough Cascarets —a 10-cent box will keep you and the entire family feeling good for months. Don't forget the children —their little insides need a good, gentle cleansing occasionally. Children love to take Cascarets, because they taste good and never gripe or sicken.

ITALY REVEALS TURK CRUELTIES

(By Wireless to the AMERICAN via Glace Bay, N. S.)

LONDON, FEB. 27.—A memorandum issued by the Italian government, containing a protest and the evidence addressed to the powers concerning the atrocities committed by the Turks and Arabs on Italian soldiers killed or wounded in and around Tripoli in October last, has been received at the AMERICAN'S London bureau. The memorandum also concerns attacks made on the Italian ambulance and the use of "dumdum" bullets. The Italian government declares:

"It is indispensable in the supreme interests of civilization that the powers should know of the unheard of cruelty of the enemy which Italy is now combating and that they should find in it a confirmation that the recent resolutions and the declarations of years are insufficient to drag a people from its secular barbarism.

"Keeping ourselves within the narrow limits of international law, the violations committed by the Ottoman army fighting in Tripolitania may be divided into three distinct groups:

1—Killing of the wounded and acts of barbarity committed on the dead in violation of acts 1 and III of the Geneva convention of 1890.

2—Attacks on the ambulance and killing members of the sanitary staff while in the exercise of their functions in violation of act IX of the same convention.

3—The use of expanding bullets in violation of the third declaration annexed to the Hague convention.

DEMANDS NAME GO ON BALLOT

James J. Gaffney of Danvers has filed a petition for a writ of mandamus in the Supreme Judicial Court, Essex county, against Clerk Julius Dale of Danvers to compel that official to recognize him as an official candidate for school committee and to place his name on the official ballot. The hearing in the petition will be on Friday.

Mr. Gaffney alleges in his petition that on November 13, 1911, it was voted at a town meeting at Danvers that the last business to be done at the annual town meeting would be the election of town officers as required by law.

On February 25, 1912, at 11:20 o'clock, Mr. Gaffney declares that he found that the respondent a nomination paper for the office of school committee in accordance with the statutes, eleven days before the day of election. Mr. Gaffney claims that Clark Peale has refused to recognize him as a valid nominee and refuses to allow his name to be placed on the official ballots on the ground that the paper was not filed seasonably.

WOMAN PHYSICIAN FREED BY HIGGINS

District Attorney Higgins of Middlesex County today placed on file indictments against Dr. Catharine W. Castle of Malden and Samuel A. Morrison of Reading. Both were charged with performing an illegal operation. Dr. Castle was tried at East Cambridge in the Superior Criminal Court last month, and the jury disagreed. It is said that the jury stood 11 to 1 in favor of acquittal. At this trial Morrison turned State's evidence.

The Angel Lady

By MORTON BIRGE

Any housewife of the species may be deadly as an axe,
She may be the village wonder for the beauty that she lacks,
But the men will all endorse her—short of anything but crime—
If she's known to serve up dinner when the clock says dinner time.

Dinner's late and there you have it— there's the "riff within the lute."
Doubtless if one searched the records of the wreaks of married life
One would find belated dinner was the leading cause of strife.

There's a special sort of Heaven, better than the common lot,
Waiting for the wondrous woman who serves dinner on the dot,
But for those who keep men waiting, who serve dinner "by and by"—
Well, I trust there's something "special" for those females when they die.

MEN ARGUE FOR WOMEN'S VOTE

"Distinction of sex in respect to the vote is a relic of barbarism."—Ex-Governor John D. Long.

"Woman is more conservative than man and should be allowed to vote."—Samuel L. Powers.

"Woman suffrage is an economic necessity."—John Weaver Sherman.

"Ninety-five per cent. of Massachusetts women oppose suffrage."—Charles R. Saunders.

"The suffrage in other States has not added a woman to labor."—Miss Allande Blonson.

"The granting of suffrage is a step towards degeneracy."—Professor William T. Sedgwick.

These are some of the arguments pro and con put forward by Suffragists and anti-Suffragists before the legislative committee on constitutional amendments on the bill to submit the equal suffrage question to the voters.

There were more men speakers in favor of woman suffrage than women speakers.

The big chamber room, was crowded and more stood in the corridors. Proponents of the bill sat on one side of the big table and opponents on the other, facing each other. The chairman, Senator Allen of Newton, announced early in the hearing that there was to be no applauding.

The women Suffragists decided not to make any (unusual) demonstration, but to propose a little later to "rock" the Cradle of Liberty with a mass meeting.

The hearing was conducted for the Suffragists by La Rue Brown, who had by her side Wendell Phillips Dodge of the American Federation of Labor, which is championing the bill, and Mrs. Maud Wood Park for the Socialists.

Charles R. Saunders conducted the hearing for the Association Opposed to the Further Extension of Woman Suffrage.

Ex-Governor John D. Long sent a letter which was read by Samuel L. Powers, in which Mr. Long wrote:

"I wish to repeat my life-long adherence to the right of women to vote. I have always advocated it, and I have never changed my mind; that there should be distinction of sex in this respect seems to me to be a relic of barbarism."

Mrs. Maude Wood Park, secretary of the Boston Equal Suffrage Association, pointed out that in Wyoming, Colorado, Utah, Idaho, Washington and California women have full suffrage, while in fifteen other States they have partial suffrage. No better proof of the successful working of equal suffrage can be given, she said, than the fact that the States which have adopted it are neighbors. The change has not been revolutionary, but evolutionary.

Henry Abrahams, secretary of Boston Central Labor Union, said his craft admits women members and the result has been to enable women to receive the same wages as men.

Mary S. Ames of Easton, president of the Massachusetts Association of Women Opposed to Woman Suffrage, later organization is composed of 18,000 women, who in self-defense have banded together to oppose the extension of suffrage to women. They prefer, she said, to trust their welfare to men rather than to an electorate composed largely of women.

COAL MINE MEN IN CONFERENCE

NEW YORK, Feb. 27.—Today's general conference of anthracite operators and delegates of the United Mine Workers of America, may determine whether or not there is to be a strike of the miners.

Although thus far there has been little strike talk, some of the union leaders say they feel that there would be a general strike unless the demands of the miners are granted. The labor men are insistent that their demands, which will affect 175,000 hard coal miners, shall be granted, though it is understood that, outside of the demands for increased wages, fewer hours of labor and payment by the tons, the union will compromise if necessary.

The miners want a 20 per cent. increase in wages, an eight-hour day, recognition of the union, the checking of grievances by operators, a one-year instead of a three-year agreement, the abolition of the conciliation board and that for contract mining the present rate of $2.65 per day for miners and $2.75 for laborers is demanded.

The operators insist that the demands cannot be granted. They say the consumer will be forced to pay a higher price for coal. Millions of tons of anthracite are said to have been stored along the lines of the various hard coal roads and the manufacturers and others have laid in stocks to be prepared in case of trouble.

John P. White of Indianapolis, president of the United Mine Workers of America, the local presidents of the hard coal districts and delegates to the conference from the anthracite region engaged in the conference.

WRECK IS LAID TO STINGINESS

The trainmen's committee, it became known today, blames the Boston & Maine's stinginess for the Hoosac tunnel wreck, in which four lives were lost.

This came out at a hearing before the legislative Committee on Railroads at the State House. It was at a hearing on a bill to compel railroads operating trains of thirty cars or more to man those trains with six men, adding another brakeman to the present force.

Thomas E. Donovan, secretary of the trainmen's committee, was a witness. Representative O'Hara asked:

"Do you believe that if that train had been properly manned the accident would have happened?"

"I do not believe it would," replied Donovan, "because the collective judgment that the dog is kept down 5 if the time. This is done to save the expense."

Chairman McLeod of the Railroad Commission, Commissioner Bishop and attaches of the board today visited the scene of the Hoosac tunnel wreck to investigate the cause. It will form in the electrical part of the investigation they have retained Professor W. L. Duffie of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

OFFICER LOSES BROCKTON FIGHT

BROCKTON, Feb. 27.—Mayor Howard's dismissal of Patrolman Chester W. Osborne from the police force was upheld today in the finding of Judge Warren A. Reed of the Brockton Police Court, who heard the policeman's appeal. Osborne was accused of being untruthful.

The courtroom today was thronged with politicians. The charge against Osborne grew out of his statement shortly before the last city election, that he had seen former Representative Gilmore and former Aldermen Powers of this city enter the home of Mayor Howard early in the morning. He admitted making the statement and was suspended for thirty days. Then he demanded a public hearing, the Mayor found him guilty and dismissal followed.

NEW FIANCEE FOR GRAHAME-WHITE

NEW YORK, Feb. 27.—Question: If a girl refuses to deny her engagement to a man, and in the same breath declares that that man is "simply diving," "perfectly wonderful," and "adorable" is one to assume that the wedding bells may be expected to ring?

Miss Dorothy Taylor, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Taylor of this city and niece of the late Governor Flower, won't announce her engagement to Claude Grahame-White, the English aviator, whom she met on the home voyage from Europe last December.

BEAUTIFUL, LUSTROUS, HEAVY HAIR, AND NO DANDRUFF OR ITCHY SCALP.

Get a 25-Cent Bottle of Danderine and Just Try This—Stops Falling Hair at Once.

Thin, brittle, colorless and scraggy hair is mute evidence of a neglected scalp; of dandruff—that awful scurf.

There is nothing so destructive to the hair as dandruff. It robs the hair of its lustre, its strength and its very life; eventually producing a feverishness and itching of the scalp, which if not remedied causes the hair roots to shrink, loosen and die—then the hair falls out fast.

A little Danderine tonight—now—anytime—will surely save your hair. Ten minutes after applying all the dandruff will disappear, all itching will cease and there will be no more falling hair. Millions of men and women use Knowlton's Danderine and they never have dandruff, itchy scalp or falling hair—they know that it keeps the scalp clean and healthy and makes the hair grow heavy, long and beautiful.

Get a 25-cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store or toilet counter, and after the first application you will say it was the best investment you ever made. Your hair will immediately take on that life, lustre and luxuriance which is so beautiful. It will become wavy and fluffy and have the appearance of abundance; an incomparable softness, but what will please you most will be after just a few weeks' use, when you will actually see a lot of fine, downy hair—new hair—growing all over the scalp.

ROOSEVELT ON "THIRD TERM"

Colonel Theodore Roosevelt, who wants a third term as President of the United States, has said, among other things since he came to Boston, the following:

About the Chicago nominee:

"Of course, I will support any candidate the Chicago convention names."

About the "third term":

"My position on the third term is perfectly simple. I stated it as clearly as I could in 1904, and reiterated it in 1907. I said I would not accept a nomination for a third term under any circumstances, meaning, of course, a third consecutive term.

"I want it understood that I have not changed my mind. My position has simply been misinterpreted. But let us assume that I have changed. What then? Who is harmed? Every man has a right to change his opinion. So looking at it either way it is not a serious matter."

About how he feels:

"I am entirely happy because I am fighting for a principle. The issue is in no sense a personal one."

"Going to Be a Great Scrap."

About the campaign for nomination:

"Yes; it's going to be a great scrap. I'm ready for whatever comes up."

About his stand:

"I hope in the near future nobody will be in any doubt as to exactly where I stand on every one of the issues I have expounded here since my return. But let us assume that I have changed. What then? Who is harmed? Every man has a right to change his opinion. So looking at it either way it is not a serious matter."

Colonel Roosevelt granted an interview to the reporters. The first thing that his callers wanted to know was what position he was going to make to the American people about his previous utterance against a third term. It was about this the Outlook cup of coffee explanation—that when a man declined three cups of coffee to-day that didn't mean he would not take a cup to-morrow—was the Colonel's explanation.

Position on Third Term.

"My position on the third term," he told his callers, "is perfectly simple. I stated it as clearly as I could in 1904 and reiterated it in 1907. I said I would not accept a nomination for a third term under any circumstances, meaning, of course, a third consecutive term.

"I could not have said less at that time, nor could I have said more. Of course I could not then know whether or not there would be a demand for me to accept a nomination at some future time. And believing, as I do, that the selection of candidates for the presidency rests entirely with the people, I could not say that at no time in my life would I accept another nomination.

"It must be clear to any reasonable man that the precedent which forbids a third term has reference solely to a third consecutive term. It grew out of the fact that a President of the United States under the present convention system of electing delegates can, if he knows how to use the machinery at his disposal, renominate himself even though the majority of the party is against him.

Says He Hasn't Changed.

"But after he has been cast out of office for a term he has lost control of that machinery. He is in the position absolutely of any private citizen. The machinery then is in the hands of the man occupying the office of President."

Mr. Roosevelt asked his questioners to assume for the sake of argument that he had changed his mind with reference to the wisdom of the prohibition against the third term.

"I want it understood," he said, "that I have not changed my mind. My position was simply been misunderstood. But let us assume that I have changed. What then? Who is harmed? Every man has a right to change his opinion. So looking at it either way it is not a serious matter."

The Colonel Judges.

The Colonel was asked if he would support the nominee of the Republican national convention at Chicago, and to this he replied:

"Of course I will."

"I am happy, entirely happy, because I am fighting for a principle and the issue is in no sense a personal one," he may quote me as saying that," he added.

On the Recall of Judges.

Speaking of the recall of judges, Colonel Roosevelt said:

"Now with reference to the recall of judges and judicial decisions. Why, out last year they have said because I expressed my belief in the judicial system of Massachusetts that I was thus contradicting it. It is a little surprising, isn't it, that here in Massachusetts they should think me wrong because I approved their system.

"As for the recall of judicial decisions, what I said relates, of course, to constitutional questions and I do not think the people will be misled on that point. What I said is that I do not favor the recall of all decisions, but too absurd for serious consideration.

"Need a Strong Man."

"My position is that the people, who make the Constitution, have a right to review the decision of any small body of men who say that Constitution means something other than they think it does."

Asked why he refused to support President Taft for a second term, Mr. Roosevelt said he did not believe the President had the confidence of the people.

"A great many people believe," he said, "that they need a strong man at the helm—a man who grows progressive in office, or at least one who does not grow reactionary.

"President Taft has grown reactionary in office and turned more and more away from the people."

SENATOR BOURNE ISSUES DEFENCE OF ROOSEVELT

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27.—As a result of attacks made on Colonel Roosevelt because of his announcement that he is a candidate for a third term; Senator Jonathan Bourne, Jr., of Oregon, a leader among the Progressives, today issued the following defence of the ex-President:

"The American people must note with satisfaction the development and evolution of Colonel Roosevelt. He had a perfect right to declare in 1904 that he would not be a candidate again, but he had absolutely no right to say he would not accept another nomination. By so doing he was placing his own personal wishes ahead of his party's or country's possible demand—self ahead of duty.

"In 1907 his selfishness, or egotism, still controlled him, and although the demand was pronounced for his renomination, yet he still placed himself ahead of duty, his reiterated declaration thus depriving the nation of the enjoyment of its then greatest personal asset, namely, the confidence he had won from the American people.

"Had he announced that he would not attempt to designate his successor, such statement would have been far more consistent.

"In 1912 Colonel Roosevelt has evidently realized that it is the duty of every American citizen to answer the call of his party or people regardless of his own personal wishes and desires, and now announces he will accept the nomination if tendered him.

"No honest, intelligent person can criticise this declaration, but must commend this final realization of Colonel Roosevelt's that it is one duty of citizenship to place country ahead of self. A call to office in a time of peace may be of far more importance to the life of the nation than a call to arms in time of war."

took him under arrest. He was booked and charged with the two assaults.

"Carry the strike to the White House" is now the war cry of the mill workers, and if the new plans are carried out, Washington will see and hear everything concerning the great textile controversy here.

A Congressional investigation is expected to start some day this week in Washington, at which a committee of the strikers and of the children will be present.

This announcement was made by the strike leaders, and at the same time they made public a letter received from Congressman Victor Berger of Wisconsin and the answer thereto. The letter is dated at Washington and addressed to George E. Roewer, Jr., the attorney for Etter, and reads as follows:

Could you and some others, including children, come here for a congressional hearing some day this week?

To this William D. Haywood, one of the strike leaders, replied:

A committee of children and strikers will start for Washington as soon as arrangements can be made. Will wire later.

Delay Shipment of Children.

In view of the above developments and the recent rioting, it was decided by the strike committee not to send the children away as planned today.

Tomorrow, however, another attempt will be made by the committee to railroad forty-five little ones to New York or Philadelphia.

Acting Marshall John J. Sullivan says that he will not permit it, and he is backed up by Colonel Sweetser. Anticipating trouble an extra detail of police will be on hand to prevent this move.

As a result of the trouble yesterday it is feared that there will be a general falling off in the number of mill operatives here. This has been made by several of those who are working that unless they stop working they might expect trouble.

Several Poles went to the police and said that a band of foreigners had arrived in the city the last few days, and threatened the lives of the Polish mill workers if they broke away from the strike and returned to the mills as they had planned.

Plot To Blow Up Mills.

Although the State Police will say nothing about the report, it is said that they were told that these new arrivals planned to blow up some of the mills and the property of those who returned to work. Captain William Proctor of the State Police has several men working on the case, and several men, whose names are known are being sought.

At the meeting of the strike committee it was announced that one of the members had offered a bet of $100 to the committee on which they could hold a mass meeting. The date of this proposed meeting will be decided at today's meeting of the committee.

The "endless chain" of pickets is in operation again today. The women doing the most of the picketing.

No Socials for Soldiers.

Colonel Sweetser has been requested by the City Council to prohibit any more dancing or public assemblies for the entertainment of the soldiers in any of the local mills.

Alderman O'Brien, who made the motion, said that the strikers had the impression that the manufacturers were providing these functions for the militia, and that they were here for the sole purpose of protecting the mill property.

Colonel Sweetser said that he would make a personal visit to the Council and give his reply.

This visit is considered unusual, as the other communications to the Mayor and Council have always been in writing.

CAUSE AND CURE OF DYSPEPSIA

There is the most intimate relation between the condition of the blood and the activity of the stomach. The blood depends upon the stomach for a large part of its nourishment; while every act of digestion, from the time the food enters the stomach until it is digested and assimilated by the blood, needs plenty of pure, well-oxidized blood. The stomach works only according to the quality of the blood.

The most common cause of indigestion is anæmia, or lack of blood. Indeed there is not a single disturbance of the health of the body nor any form of exhaustion or lowered vitality, that may not lead to stomach trouble. Disordered blood is the one common cause of indigestion. Thin, impure blood weakens the muscles of the stomach and lessens the product of the glands which furnish the digestive fluids.

Nothing will more promptly cure indigestion than plenty of pure, well-oxidized blood. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People increase the red corpuscles, the oxygen-carriers of the blood, until the blood is rich and red. A thorough trial of these pills gives a hearty appetite, perfect digestion, strength and health.

Mr. Alfred W. Llewellyn, whose address is Box 432, Olyphant, Pa., says: "I am glad that I took Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People for Indigestion and a general nervous breakdown. I suffered continually with indigestion, had gas on the stomach and almost constant pain in the abdomen. I grew very nervous. My sleep was not restful and I had terrible dreams. My legs ached and were numb at times. I had frequent headaches. I grew so weak that I could not do a day's work and was much discouraged. A friend in the old country who had been aided by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People advised me to try them. I had no color in my face when I began taking the pills. I began to improve with the first box and kept on until I was cured. I have gained several pounds in weight and am in perfect health and able to work as hard and at any time in my life."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by all druggists, or will be sent, postpaid, on receipt of price, 50c. per box; six boxes for $2.50, by the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y.

OCEAN LINES IN BIG CANAL PLOT

NEW YORK, Feb. 27.—A conspiracy to prevent free and competitive use of the Panama Canal is hatched in a letter from Secretary Nagel of the Department of Commerce and Labor to Chairman Adamson of the House Committee on Interstate and Foreign Commerce.

After three years of quiet and systematic effort, the parties to this trade conspiracy, which includes the Hamburg-American Packet line, in which Emperor William is a stockholder and J. Pierpont Morgan holds a big interest, the North German Lloyd Steamship Company, the Kosmos line (German), the Hamburg-South American line, the Pacific Steam Navigation Company and the Toyo Kisen Kaisha line (Japanese) have, it is asserted, succeeded in obtaining control of every port on both coasts of South and Central America and Mexico.

Foreign Bounty Proposed.

Acting in conjunction with the great American transcontinental railroad systems, these steamship companies, according to the information laid before the Congressional committee, have entered into agreements by which foreign merchants shipping to the ports in their control will receive rebates of 10 per cent. from the standard traffic rates.

Through its consular officers this government has learned that foreign nations, especially Germany, which is seeking the trade of South America, contemplates granting a bounty to its ships equal to the tonnage tolls levied by this country for use of the canal.

It is declared to be the belief of the great corporations concerned in this conspiracy that, aided by the American railroads, they will be able to block all efforts by American shippers and shipping interests to profit by the canal, and to direct to themselves the entire benefit, financially and otherwise, accruing from the investment of American capital in that great enterprise.

Plan to Rob United States.

The report made by Secretary Nagel shows that to more easily rob America of the fruits of her stupendous effort the foreign shipping interests have organized themselves into conferences, each aimed "to regulate and restrict competition" in its own particular territory.

It is understood the committee contemplates a recommendation that the President be given power to deny use of the canal to any vessel proved to be in any shipping ring or conference, or belonging to any combination having control of any shipping port, and to any vessel owned, controlled or operated in connection with any railroad line.

HITCHCOCK AIDS PASTOR NOYES

Postmaster-General Hitchcock today took personal charge of the work of the postoffice inspectors attempting to trace the author of the Black Hand letter received by the Rev. Frederick B. Noyes of Scituate. An arrest is expected today.

The Rev. Mr. Noyes, who is pastor of the First Congregational Church and chairman of the Scituate School Committee, graduated from Harvard in the same class with Postmaster-General Hitchcock. Following the receipt of the letter he wired the Postmaster-General at Washington and the latter ordered a rigid investigation.

The Scituate police and the Deputy Sheriff are also working on the case. In the letter, Pastor Noyes, his wife and six-year-old child, Elinor, are threatened with death by poison. The author also threatens to dynamite his house and burn the church. The burning of the church at Reading a few months ago, the writer cites as part of his work.

The letter which is made public today has thrown the whole town of Scituate into an uproar. Residents of the town are indignant at the charges contained in the letter and have offered their services to every assistance. Several of his neighbors volunteered to mount guard over his residence with rifles to ward off any attempt of the sender of the letter to carry out his purpose.

Here is the Black Hand letter:

Mr. Noyes—Your presence in Scituate is not wanted any longer. It is very bad. Your instructions are:

First—To stop all schemes you have in mind, politically or have suggested to others. If they materialize, you die.

Second—To resign your pulpit on or before the first Sunday in March, and to leave town immediately thereafter.

Failure to obey means your death. I am employed to put an end to you.

Your church may be dynamited to the ground. (Remember the Reading Congregational Church fire record.) Your home may be destroyed by dynamite. Your food may be poisoned secretly. You may be shot with a gun equipped with a Maxim silencer, through your open window or when you are out alone at night.

I am paid to make away with you. Should you fail to mind these instructions, you and your family had better make your peace with God. This is your only warning. Hereafter your life is in your own hands.

The publication of this letter will seal your doom. You may get temporary protection, but I will get you sooner or later, if it takes years.

Payment has been made to me for your death, and a balance is to be paid when you are gone.

BLACK HAND.

This letter is written with a typewriter, on plain paper that has apparently been a letter head. The upper part of the sheet has been torn off.

The home of the Rev. Mr. Noyes adjoins the estate of Thomas W. Lawson, but the pastor declared today he is not afraid and refused all offers of armed assistance. Mr. Noyes has been active in Scituate politics and although the letter is signed "Black Hand," he says he believes it was written by any member of a secret society.

It is thought the minister is only a move by political opponents to frighten him into leaving the town. The letter was mailed in Boston and in it the minister is warned to get out of Scituate by March 1 under pain of death.

BRICK IN THE HAT, BUT IT'S NOT APRIL 1

ALBANY, Feb. 27.—Assemblyman Colne, Republican, of Brooklyn, was asked what he thought of Colonel Roosevelt's announcement of his candidacy for the presidency. "Well, the Colonel's out is in the ring for sure," said Colne. "I'm like a lot of other Republican legislators who don't care to discuss the matter. I'm afraid to kick the hat for fear there may be a brick in it." "Solid brick?" piped up Assemblyman Murray of New York. "Tut, tut," was the reply.

Portrait of Lady Decies, Painted by B. C. Potter

LADY DECIES RETURNS SOON

NEW YORK, Feb. 27.—Lady Decies (Vivien Gould) is to return home soon in order that the next heir to the Gould millions and also the heir, if a boy, to the Decies title, may be born in this country. The Gould stork, though now allied with nobility, seeks the native land for this interesting event.

Lady Decies is coming from Luttrellstown, the mansion rented by Lord Decies for the Winter, to her girlhood home, Georgian Court, Lakewood, N. J.

Vivien Gould, at the age of eighteen, married John de la Poer Beresford, the fourth Lord Decies in New York, February 7, 1911. Her trousseau cost $50,000. The floral display cost $15,000. Invitations were issued to 3,000 guests at St. Bartholomew's where the ceremony was performed with a grandeur fitting the principals. There was a full dress rehearsal the previous day, itself a social innovation and novelty.

Showered With Gold.

The bride was showered with gold. The goldsmiths were kept busy for months. Seldom had such an array of gifts been seen. Even the memorable wedding of Majorie Gould to Anthony Drexel, Jr., was not more brilliant.

The couple went to Jekyll Island and then to Egypt.

Lady Decies lost the distinction of being the first American presented to King George at the coronation. She kissed the new monarch's right hand after he had been crowned. She wore a wonderful lily gown, ornamented with crystals and pearls, and her girlish figure was one of the striking features of the scene.

Although she was on the verge of a critical surgical operation at the time, onlookers could not detect it, so regal was her gown. A day or two after she was operated upon for appendicitis, from which she has entirely recovered.

Hopes for a Boy.

The three-months bride seemed the least worried of anyone about the operation, before or after it. Her continual greeting to her husband while she was recovering was: "Don't worry, I'm getting along all right."

Naturally the House of Decies hopes for a boy, as the heir is to the title. The Decies peerage was created at the beginning of the nineteenth century in favor of the youngest brother of the Marquis of Wellesley, who was the Protestant Archbishop of Cashel. To the title is left an old one, as English families go. But it is none the less honorable. Lord Decies is a distinguished soldier and holds the D. S. O., Distinguished Service Order.

Lord Decies' age—he is forty-four—was remarked on at the time of the announcement of the engagement. Lady Decies was only eighteen years old when she went to the altar. It was also remarked that the international marriage was against what was understood to be George Gould's settled policy, that all his girls should wed Americans.

But the titled Englishman said with warmth, when the disparity of ages was mentioned:

"Well, that doesn't matter, does it. That doesn't make one too old. In England it is not unusual to see girls marry quite fully twice their age. At any rate, I shall not give any thought to it so long as Miss Gould and her mother are satisfied."

$15,000 LOSS IN QUINCY BLAZE

The main building of the Wollaston foundry in Quincy was destroyed by fire early today with a loss of $15,000. A general alarm was sounded and the firemen were able to save the office building and the pattern shop.

The foundry is located near the Norfolk Downs railroad station, and for a time it was feared that that structure would be set on fire by sparks.

The blaze is believed to have started from an overheated forge. It was burning briskly when discovered.

District Fire Chief David Nyham, who lives near the foundry, was quickly on the scene and at once sounded a general alarm.

The main building, a one and a half story structure, was destroyed, despite the work of the entire Quincy fire fighting force. The casting shop also caught.

The fire was located in a particularly dangerous section, and only a heavy rainstorm enabled the firemen to overcome the good start the fire had obtained. The Pneumatic Scale Company, the Robbins Iron Works and the Nyhan Brass Foundry plants are nearby, and in the rear of the Wollaston Foundry are six three-story tenements in course of construction.

The burned structure replaced one destroyed by fire twenty years ago. The original building, erected on the site forty years ago, was the first factory in Wollaston. In the main building were a large number of patterns for castings of shoe machinery parts, and many of them were destroyed. They were owned by two Boston firms, which controlled the patents on them.

Europe Sends Us Best Consumption Remedy

Endorsed by All Her Leading Physicians, and Has Long List of Successes to Its Credit.

Switzerland has lately been producing a remedy called Sirolin, which has taken the physicians of Europe by storm, by its wonderful work in the treating of Consumptives.

So convincing have been the successes, and so strong has been the praise accorded it, that Sirolin is now being imported into this Country in large quantities.

Sirolin has succeeded where everything else has failed, because it is agreeable to the most delicate stomach, and aids the digestion to such a degree that the patient takes on weight rapidly.

It has also received praise on the strength or its being entirely free from harmful and habit-forming drugs, and never fails to relieve the most distressing symptoms even in the most advanced stages of the disease.

Additional information about Sirolin can be obtained in this country from the Sirolin Company, 228 West Broadway, New York City.

MORSE BACK IN THREE MONTHS

GENOA, Italy, Feb. 27.—"If all goes well," said Charles W. Morse, the AMERICAN correspondent on the way from Villefranche to Genoa, "I expect to be back in New York in three or four months and able, I hope, to think of other things than — my health.

"But first I want to go to Paris and get out and see what the world is like. I did intend going to Bad Nauheim to take the cure, but they tell me it is cold and disagreeable there at this season of the year, so I think it will do me more good to take a rest and the air on board this boat, where I am comfortable.

"HOUSE FATHER" ILL

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 27.—Congressman H. H. Bingham, known as the "Father of the House," is seriously ill in his home here from heart trouble.

'ONLY ONE KISS' IN CROKER CASE

NEW YORK, Feb. 27.—Mrs. Ethel Croker Breen, the twenty-one-year-old daughter of Richard Croker, retired boss of Tammany Hall, sat for five hours during the trial of her divorce action against John J. Breen, the riding master, without glancing at her husband.

Mrs. Breen and her mother, both clad in velvet and black furs, although they were on the other side of a small table from the horseman, who eloped with Ethel Croker in April, 1910, ignored him entirely. They kept their backs turned upon him throughout the day's sessions.

The divorce complaint charged that Breen, fifteen years his bride's senior, having been separated from his wife immediately after the secret marriage, went to Toronto, Canada, and there, in September, 1911, met the young woman who is named in the papers. His wife asks that the marriage be dissolved because of Breen's alleged misconduct in the Grand Union Hotel, Toronto, on the night of September 3.

The "other woman" is Miss Maude Diehl, a plump brunette of twenty-two years. She was in the court room, having come from Toronto voluntarily, with her fiance, to testify that the charge against Breen was false. She admits that she accompanied Breen to his room, indulged in a "little kiss" with him and that he even took "one kiss," but she denies all graver charges.

Under the cross-examination of Francis L. Wellman, author of "The Art of Cross-Examination," she denied emphatically that there was any basis in fact for the divorce because of her friendship for the riding master.

Under the guidance of Breen's counsel, W. M. K. Olcott, Miss Diehl explained that she and Breen "picked up" an acquaintance with Breen at the telephone switchboard, and on September 3 last did accept his invitation to dinner at the Grand Union Hotel and later accompanied him to his room to have beverages out of view of possible friends.

DESCRIBES FORGING NOMINATION PAPERS

Dennis F. Mahoney, indicted on the charge of forging nomination papers, who pleaded guilty to the charge last week, took the witness stand in the Superior Court today and related when and where many of the alleged forgeries were made. Mahoney was examined by assistant District Attorney Webber. He told the court he and Erick F. Sheehan, the other defendant now on trial, got the papers from Augustus Sawyer, labor candidate for Governor, Then took the papers to Sheehan's home, No. 295 Harrison avenue, South End, and there each would take a turn copying five or six names from a precinct book.

2,758 ACCIDENTALLY KILLED IN 3 MONTHS

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27.—According to a bulletin issued by the Interstate Commerce Commission today, the number of persons killed in railroad accidents during July, August and September, 1911, was 201, and the injured 4,283, showing a decrease of 201 in the number killed and an increase of 339 in the number injured over the same months in 1910. Accidents of other kinds bring the total number of casualties, in railroad and industrial accidents, to 2,758 killed and 19,107 injured.

SEEK MISSING WEST ROXBURY WOMAN

The police of this city have been asked to locate Mrs. Ellen Matthews, wife of Joseph Matthews, who left her home, No. 5218 Washington street, West Roxbury, accompanied by her two children. Mrs. Matthews is twenty-six years of age. The children are three and four years old, respectively. No reason can be given by Matthews for the strange action of his wife. He declared she was seen in a department store a few days ago and that he believes she is living in the city.

FIND BANK LOOT IN DORCHESTER

Following a clew that started in a woman's boast about the new hat her "man" was to buy her, Deputy Superintendent Watts, with Inspector McGarr and a New York policeman, recovered $750 of the $25,000 secured by bandits in the sensational hold up of two bank messengers in the heart of New York's financial district February 15, in a raid on the home of William Kinsman, No. 20 Wildemere road, Dorchester.

The New York police have under arrest Edward Kinsman, son of the Dorchester man, together with two other men and two women, one of whom made the boast which led to the arrest.

The robbery of the two bank messengers, who were held up and beaten by men who stopped their automobile on busy New York street and then escaped in a taxicab, was one of the most daring in New York police records.

The money recovered in Dorchester was in two suit cases, in the shape of $5 bills, which were made up in packages and labelled with the name of the Produce Exchange Bank, and the date, February 15, according to the police.

SURE SPRING SIGN.

MIDDLETOWN, N. Y., Feb. 27.—Edward C. Gould of this city captured many grasshoppers on Hopper Hill, which was alive with them today. The grasshoppers have been placed on exhibition in windows of business places here as proof that Spring is near.

RADIUM TO RID THE WORLD OF BALDNESS

Falling Hair, Dandruff and All Other Hair and Scalp Trouble.

MME. CURIE'S AMAZING TESTS

Hundreds of our readers afflicted with Baldness, Dandruff, Thin Hair or Premature Grayness, who have read of the discovery of Radium by Mme. Curie, the wonderful woman scientist, and of its later use in the healing of disease, will be interested in recent scientific chemical experiments, seeming to prove beyond question that its remarkable radio-active energy can be used to equal advantage in quickly producing a growth of new, healthy hair on even the baldest head and in restoring natural color to gray or faded hair.

Some time ago a French Physician preparing a prescription for a Clinic in Paris for the treatment of Scalp Sores, Dandruff and Eczema added considerably more than was his custom of an ingredient called Pitchblende. This prescription proved not only wonderfully effective for the purpose intended, but greatly to the surprise of himself and fellow-physicians, it quickly started a new growth of hair wherever applied. Bald-headed men with Eczema and Scaly Scalp and people with Dandruff tried this new drug and found not only the Dandruff gone and Scaly Sores quickly healed, but that in from ten to thirty days' time it had produced a most marvelous growth of new hair, even in spots where hair roots were thought to be dead.

This result greatly puzzled the physicians, until recently, when quantities of Radium Ore were discovered in the Pitchblende that had been used. This unguessingly explained the whole thing. Judged by results it would seem that this Pitchblende, charged with Radium, had communicated its own wonderful radio-active energy to the ointment for healing the scalp, banishing dandruff, vitalizing the dying hair roots, invigorating the color sacs and all parts of the follicles so that hair might grow with marvelous rapidity.

Pure Pitchblende, like Radium, is far too powerful in its natural state to apply to the human scalp, but the exact amount used by the Paris Physician in his clinical work has now been combined in a prescription with other ingredients carefully designed to refine its own radio-activity to the safest needs. This drug is known to physicians and druggists by the technical name of Anora de Compound. It is not expensive and a very little of it will go a long way; two oz. obtained at any good drug store being sufficient to make a very excellent preparation. Dilute the 2 oz. of Lavosa de Composee in 1 pint of ordinary Bay Rum and add one-half drachm of Menthol Crystals. Apply liberally night and morning, rubbing briskly into the scalp with the finger tips. Mme. Curie's amazing tests with radio-active rays would, from the above, prove conclusively that Radium itself must have a specific action on the hair follicles, as well as possessing properties for healing sores on the scalp or other parts of the body.

Because of the remarkable tendency of the above prescription to grow hair wherever applied, lady users should be careful not to rub it on face or where hair is not desired.

Connie Mack's Infield Is Ready for Pennant Race

Happy is the winning baseball manager, and the news that Connie Mack has that championship infield of his signed up for another season is calculated to make any leader of the diamond appreciate this fact.

Almost any manager would give half of his ball parks, and this with consent of the owners, if he had an infield lineup such as that belonging to the champions, yet the elongated Connie got his men under contract without "kick" from any of the stars that compose it.

And this infield which Mack has lined up is pretty near the greatest that has been seen in baseball for some time. In fact, the only one which can be compared with it is the one which made the Chicago Cubs famous, chance, Evers, Tinker and Steinfeldt going to make up this quartet. The Mack infield has it even on the Cubs in one particular—it is composed of youthful players. Connie worked for years to get this infield together and succeeded in assembling a quartet of world beaters that should survive for years.

Collins is perhaps the best of the four, good as the other three are. Collins has no weakness, unless it is an inability to grasp flies in left field. He is a quick thinker and get a play under way in a flash, and it is always the right play. He is consistently watching the ball and shifting his position. Collins backs all this up with the greatest attributes a player can have—extraordinary batting ability. Eddie always hits far above the .300 mark, and ranks with Cobb and Jackson as one of the three leading stickmasters in America.

Barry Great Fielder.

Barry, next to Collins, is the nimblest performer on the infield. It is said of Barry that he is always in a position to throw after stopping the ball, no matter how difficult a stop he has made. Barry believes that the play is only 50 per cent of the play, so he strives to add the other 50 per cent value by throwing out the man at first.

Like Collins, Barry is a Mack-made shortstopper. He went to Philadelphia from Holy Cross, an erratic but promising player. Mack made a star out of him after a season or two. Barry covers more ground than any brother shortstopper in the league. He is not merely clever on one side, like Bush of Detroit, in going to the left, but he is just as good to his right.

Barry is also the mystery of baiseman. Most persons who see the games at Shibe park believers that Jack smites out .330 or .350 numerals, but as a matter of fact his gait is around the .270 mark. The reason for this belief is that Barry is one of the most dependable hitters on the team in a pinch. With men on base pitchers fear him as much as Collins.

Jack is also a brilliant baserunner. It is said of him that he can go from first to third on nothing. No player in the American League runs the bases with more intelligence than Barry.

J. Franklin Baker is another Kohinoor. The Athletics couldn't have the greatest infield in the universe without J. Franklin. Baker is a fine fielder, being exceptionally steady under fire and in critical games. Notwithstanding his worth on the defense, Baker is known more for his batting ability than for his fielding. He drives the ball with more force than any other hitter in the circuit.

Bats Left Handed.

J. Franklin is a well-put-up youth, with muscles as hard as flint. He puts tremendous drive behind his swings. Baker bats left-handed and is a natural, long-distance hitter. He gets off a wicked, screeching liner to right field, and most times it goes for extra bases. Baker is lightning fast on his feet and gets all the value of his hits.

Baker came to Philadelphia from the Tristate League in the Fall of 1908. He wasn't used regularly until the Spring of 1909, and ever since his coming he has been one of the team's leading hitters. His batting mark in the 1910 and 1911 seasons was a big step toward the supremacy of Jim Mackmen. More spectacular of the two years was his reign as terror with the stick in the games with the Giants last Fall. Twice he saved the Athletics' bacon with clean, opportune drives.

Jack McInnis is the youngest of the four, both in years and point of service. McInnis, who did not become of age until last September, did not get the portfolio at first until the season was under way. He succeeded Harry Davis to add speed to the team.

Mack reaped more dividends from ordering this young shortstop to play first base than he did since the time of the famous switch when he made a second baseman out of Collins and a pitcher out of Murphy. Mack simply did a third time what he had done twice before.

GIANT RECRUITS HARD AT WORK AT MARLIN SPRINGS

MARLIN, Tex., Feb. 27.—"Muggsy" McGraw, the scrappy little general of the New York Giants, is sending his recruits through a stiff course of daily training stunts here. The dapper Napoleon of the Polo Grounds is working out with the men.

The Giants' regulars will not report for Spring practice for over a week, but in the meantime McGraw will be able to look over the National League rookers whom he has gathered from the different minor leagues throughout the country.

It is very unlikely that any changes be made in the New York infield this season. Merkle, Doyle, Fletcher and Herzog made up a pretty good bunch of inner gardeners. The outfield will also probably remain intact.

McGraw, however, is out to unearth some good battery men and several utility men. In Mathewson and Marquard, the Giants have two exceptionally good twirlers, but there is no knowing when either of them will be forced to lay off on account of an injury or a sore arm.

McGraw looks harder than any of his men. He is quick to command and a pleased expression crosses his face when some youngster displays intuitive knowledge of what he is driving at. He watches Arthur Bues, H. Groh and Milton Stock, young infielders, at work as though he found them a real pleasure, but he offers no comment on them outside of what he says to them on the field. It is too early for final decision.

The squad is now made up of Lauy, a lung outfielder from the Connecticut league; Nehoff, outfielder, lately with Eddie Collins at Columbia College; Thompson, a Pittsburg amateur; Groh, third baseman; Hank Groh, shortstop; Arthur Bues, third baseman; Milton Stock, shortstop from the Wisconsin-Illinois league; Bill Jacobson, the biggest outfielder in organized baseball; Lobey, Pabiot, outfielder; Barry Devore, outfielder and brother of Josh Maxwell, Maxwell, Munsell, Evans and Tesreau, pitchers; Harry McCormick, outfielder.

Diamond Gossip

Tommy Madden, the Roxbury boy, who was with the Boston Red Sox a couple seasons ago, will play ball with the Louisville team of the American Association this season. That tells all we have to say about Madden this season. Jack Tighe has been signed as manager, and believes that he has picked a good man in Madden. The club will start Spring work in about a week.

Rube Vickers is a live one. He claims he has discovered a new bender and has named it the "Timken Shot." Rube says it is a sure thing to stop the increasing .300 hitters.

If the Cardinals do not make good with Ten Million in the outfield, Roger Bresnahan will toss away Ten Million as easily as a sailor would a dime.

Elmer Steele, the former Red Sox pitcher, has taken another ride back to the minors. The Brooklyn team has just closed a deal whereby the former Boston man will go to Toronto of the International League for Catcher Phelps. This is the third time since 1908 that Steele has taken the ride to the minors.

Decollete uniforms for his warriors have been selected by Manager Chance of the Cubs for the coming season. Just to make everything regular and according to every most advanced thought, the decision has been supported by a mail order referendum among the players. The new uniforms, both "at home" and "forein," will be collarless and cut low to permit the atmosphere to circulate freely about the necks of the striving athletes. Most of the abysmal dissatisfaction last year were due to excessive heat. Manager Chance has figured that the free loss of the collar will keep his players about 15 degrees cooler.

The schedule of games in the Wachusett Interscholastic Baseball League, which comprises Fitchburg, Clinton, Gardner and Leominster High Schools, has been announced as follows: May 4, Gardner at Fitchburg; May 11, Gardner at Leominster; May 11, Fitchburg at Clinton; May 18, Leominster at Fitchburg; May 18, Clinton at Gardner; May 25, Clinton at Leominster; May 25, Fitchburg at Gardner; June 1, Leominster at Clinton; June 8, Fitchburg at Leominster; June 8, Gardner at Clinton; June 15, Clinton at Fitchburg; June 15, Leominster at Gardner.

Owner James E. Gaffney of the Pilgrims is on his way to Hot Springs where he will take a short rest before baseball season starts. The New York contractor left New York last evening by the tower.

John H. O'Brien, manager of the Fall River team, has withdrawn his offer of $4,700 for the team, which he bid in auction for it to retire from the game. A meeting of the stockholders will be held Thursday, and other bids for the club will be considered.

Charlie Bernier, recently signed by the Detroit Tigers for a tryout, has been signed to coach the New Hampshire College baseball candidates this coming season. Bernier's home is in New Hampshire, and is well known throughout the State.

HIGH RUN FOR CHELSEA STAR

J. A. Fitzgerald of Chelsea, known to bowlers throughout the Greater Boston district and one of the leaders in the Suburban League, scored 614 for his five consecutive strings in the preliminary round of the AMERICAN Bowling Championship Contest, thus being in a three-corner tie with "Ducky" Holmes and C. A. Coones for the fourth best card of the 1,072 entrants.

Due to an error in the clerical department, Fitzgerald's name was missed in the shuffle and he failed to receive a ball for the semi-final round. His strings were 137, 121, 124, 135 and 97 which is surely going some.

Three Bowlers in a Tie.

Of the cards between 600 and 500 were the following: There being nine who rolled over the 600 mark, Archie Walsh fired the tenth position from the top with a score of 598, his strings being 119, 121, 117, 109 and 133.

Walsh has a reputation as a bowler all over New England. He has taken part in many of the most important matches, and is strong in the Suburban League, or was till lasting the management of the Nodaji Alleys in East Boston, which compelled him to quit the league. He rolled his five strings at the Chelsea Square Alleys.

In a three-corner tie for eleventh, twelfth and thirteenth places were Dave O'Brien, John Wentzell and F. McFarland, each with scores of 595.

O'Brien has been a fast bowler in Boston circles for several years, rolling this season as anchor with the McCarthy team in the City League. He bowled his five strings at the Roxbury Crossing alleys, as follows: 122, 109, 112 and 117, which was the most uniform list of strings sent in for the high record mark.

Wentzell resides in Lynn. He is prominent in the A. O. U. W. League, his average for the season to date being a 95 or more than 104. His strings were 93, 122, 123, 128 and 127. Outside of his first string this was remarkable work.

McFarland is another fifth pin sonsher of note in Boston. He rolled his card at the Roxbury Crossing alleys, getting easy string 118, 124, 135, 107 and 121. The triumvir of McFarland, Walsh and O'Brien will be a power in the rounds of the contest to come.

Hintze Rays Out 591.

Fourteenth in the list of top-notchers came William Rogers, with a total of 591. A member of the Harvard team in the City League, and rolled matches at his home alleys, as follows: 124, 131, 98, 118 and 120. Rogers is counted dangerous any time he gets his best ball working. Tied with Rogers was Harvey Hintze of the Congress alleys, Chelsea. Hintze is prominent as an alley manager, having been connected with the Boylston, Harvard, Congress and other places. He has been among the leaders in the City League in seasons past, and is a strong match game bowler as well. His strings read 125, 127, 106, 117 and 116.

In a few days the Bowling Committee in charge of the contest will be able to announce the alleys in Boston over which the elimination semi-finals and final will be decided. Due notice of the alleys picked will be given the bowlers in the AMERICAN.

FOUR TEAMS TO SHIFT OUTFIELD

One-half of the clubs in the National Baseball League will have changes in outfield positions when the season opens, April 11. Philadelphia, Brooklyn, Pittsburg and possibly Chicago are preparing to strengthen the batting power of their teams through alterations in grouping outside pastures. New York, Cincinnati, St. Louis and Boston are the teams to stand pat on the men who covered the gardens in 1911.

Centerfield is left as the only Cub garden spot a cloud. And if some one else besides Hofman is placed there the West Side fans will be surprised. But it is likely to come if Artie Hofman does not pick up and improve over his performance of 1911. In the field and on the bases Hofman was a wonder, but he slumped miserably compared to the brilliant work he did in 1910. And unless he comes stronger this spring Ward F. Miller, procured from Montreal, may be given the preference, although faithful Cub followers doubt it.

Pittsburgh is not expecting any new men to take the place of the regulars, but Fred Clarke's determination to retire from active participation in left field opens the way for Max Carey or Mike Donlin to secure the job as a regular.

Manager Bill Dahlen of Brooklyn is to make a peculiar change. He is to take John Hummel from second base and stick him in right field in place of Casey. Hummel is too valuable a man to keep off the club owing to his batting, and again is slowing up just enough to prevent his being a star in the infield. Coulson may not be deprived of a position he will be moved into centre, unless Bill Dahlen's "cracks the peller" unusually hard. Zack Wheat is a permanent fixture in the left field.

Philadelphia is to make a change that will give it one of the heaviest hitting set of outfielders in the organization. It has two fine players now in Sherwood Magee and Dodge Paskert, who cover left and centre field.

PRINCETON BASEBALL CANDIDATES OUT

PRINCETON Feb. 27.—Princeton's baseball candidates, to the number of fifty, reported for their first practice in the varsity cage. Bill Clark, former manager of the Albany team of the New York State league, and a former catcher of the New York Giants, directed some limbering-up stunts of a very rudimentary nature and looked over the material. Captain Sterrett and Worthington were the only men of last year's nine to report, but Ivan White and Pendleton, who won distinction on the Princeton gridiron last Fall, and Parker and Carter, the running mates, will be out before the end of the week.

5 National League Magnates Claim the Pennant for 1912

Everybody's doing it!
Doing what?
Why, claiming the National League pennant for 1912.

According to big league magnates the National League flag is going to be won by at least four and possibly five or six clubs this season.

This is the time of the year that big league club owners come to bat with their annual pennant claims. Charley Murphy can already see the National League pennant flying from his flag staff in the Windy City, while Barney Dreyfuss cannot be persuaded but that the Pirates will not finish at the top of the National League heap this season. And so it is down the line. Along every magnate who is not afflicted with lock jaw is claiming the pennant.

President John Ward of the Pilgrim's isn't claiming any championships. He knows better than that.

Instead of claiming the flag, Ward modestly states that the Pilgrims will get a place in the first division.

By JOHN M. WARD.

President of Boston Club.

Our club is much stronger than the records show, and I feel confident that they will crowd somebody for a place in the first division. We suffered last season for lack of pitching. We have some promising ones now. If they make good, the Boston club will be in the race. There is no question about our club being able to hit. Toward the finish of last season they outhit any team in the league. We are very cheerful over the situation. Kling is working hard to get a strong combination out of the material he has on hand, and I believe he will succeed.

By JOSEPH O'BRIEN.

Secretary of the Giants.

I do not see anything that will prevent the Giants from winning again. Our club is certainly no weaker than it was last year; on the contrary, it is stronger. We have an advantage in having a champion, while the other clubs must get one.

By CHARLEY MURPHY.

President of the Cubs.

You can go and bet that we are going to come pretty near winning this pennant. Our club was considerable weakened last Summer by our pitchers going bad, but we look for better results this time. The luck won't be against us all the time, of course, we will color Almon Doyle at third base. We will not only miss him as a player, but personally. The poor fellow was just in his prime when accident struck him. With a fair Chance as manager the Cubs always have a chance.

By BARNEY DREYFUSS.

Owner of Pittsburg Club.

I wouldn't like to claim a pennant, but I think our club will be strong enough to be in the fight at all times. We have had considerable trouble in getting a good first baseman and that has held us back. I think we have solved that problem now, and we will use either Hank Wagner or Jack Miller on the job. We have some strong pitchers, and the Pirates ought to be in the running.

By HORACE FOGEL.

President of Philadelphia Club.

A pretty good line on how the owners think about the coming race is shown in the vote on the proposition for the winners to give up 2 per cent. of their shares of the world's series receipts. The only clubs to vote against that were New York and Philadelphia. Those two clubs expect to win. I think that Phillies will win. We have three great pitchers, Alexander, Moore and Chalmers. Our club is strong in every other department, and we made a great race last season and our men are confident. That counts a whole lot.

By NED STEININGER.

President of the St. Louis Club.

Roger Bresnahan did wonderful work with the material we had on hand last year, and I believe we will finish better this time. I am not predicting a pennant winner, but I believe we will finish in the first division. Our club got a mid start last year on account of several of the men suffering from colds, and we kept getting in the hole and fell us this year. I think we have a good string of pitchers, and everybody knows that our club can hit.

By GARRY HERRMANN.

Owner of Cincinnati Club.

"We've got the pennant already won. The only regret I have is that we will have to give up twenty-five per cent. of our share of the world's series. Seriously, though, I believe that we have a great manager in Hank O'Day. He has the material to work with and Cincinnati will certainly be in the running. I don't know much about the young fellows that we have signed and we will have to get by the best. If we are lucky enough to pick up one good pitcher we will come pretty near winning the pennant.

By CHARLES EBBETTS.

Owner of Brooklyn Club.

With the best infield in the league and two of the best infielders, the Brooklyn club will be in a position to cause more trouble this season than has. Dahlen has been working hard to get rid of a certain discordant element and when we have worked out all the trouble the Brooklyn club will go right ahead. We are taking this chance for the pennant seriously and I look to see the club finish up among the four leaders. I think I have a good manager in Dooley and we will work hard in order to make the Brooklyn people proud of our team. We have several very promising men among the youngsters.

Basketball Games in Greater Boston

Jerry Moore's West End Athletics played the Columbia A. C. of Somerville at its floor at the West End, winning by a score of 34 to 6. The Columbia A. C. second team won from the Athletics' second, 26 to 15.

The senior class basketball team at the Brighton High School won from the first year class in the interclass series, 22 to 16. The winners again distinguished the services of the leading players, because of the fraternity rule prohibiting society members from taking part in athletics.

At the Blossom Street Ward Room the West End Athletics defeated the Columbia A. C., 34 to 6.

The Mission Church Field Band basketball team defeated the Hillside A. C., also of Roxbury, by the score of 22 to 12. Hanson, O'Neil and Ennis starred.

Maynard decisively defeated Gloucester, 38 to 19. The visitors could not find the basket and the spectators by appearing on the floor in the first period covered with grease.

Two interesting games of basketball were played at the Ames Gymnasium, Stoughton A. A. defeated North Easton, 23 to 14, and seven of the latter team was defeated by the Stoughton A. A. second, 17 to 13.

The Woburn Barnes basketball team defeated the Columbia Five of Cambridge, 29 to 3.

At the Oliver Ames Gymnasium, Stoughton, the Stoughton A. A. defeated the North Easton quintet, 23 to 14, in a game of basketball.

CHECKER TOURNEY ENDS IN A DRAW

The final round of the Melvin Brown knockout checker tourney in fill undecided the principals, C. O. Mayberry of Lynn and E. C. Waterhouse of Melrose, having played ten games at the American House, each man securing a win and the other eight games being drawn. The checker lists will endeavor to complete the match some night this week, as per the request upon E. C. Waterhouse and Willis C. Hill of Saugus have played two games of their twenty-game series for a purse of $10, Hill being successful in both of the games. Four games will be played a week until the tourney is completed.

PAT DOHERTY TO LIVE ON HIS MONEY

Pat Doherty, for seven years left fielder for the Chicago American League baseball team, and former member of the Boston American, has voluntarily quit baseball.

In a letter to President Comiskey, Dougherty declares his reason for retiring is that he has all the money he needs and does not care to play ball any longer. "If my services are needed to help out the Sox, call on me," he said in his letter, which was sent from his home at Bolivar, N. Y.

FALL RIVER TEAM OWNER QUITS GAME

John H. O'Brien, manager of the Fall River baseball team of the New England League, has withdrawn his offer of $4,700 for the team, which he bid in at auction some weeks ago, and announced that he was to retire permanently from the game. The announcement was made at a meeting of the club. A stockholders' meeting will be held Thursday night, when other bids for the club will be considered.

HORN DEFEATS FRANK.

INTERCOLONIALS GET TWO STARS

The present keen rivalry between the hockey teams of the Intercolonial club and the Boston Athletic Association will probably be intensified today, following the announcement of Captain Ray Skilton of the former team that he has secured the services of two star players for his lineup in the five-game series between these two local clubs.

These two men are Tom Molyneux and Gerald Wiggott, the two star players who were seen last week in this city with the strong Sherbrooke team. Both are coming to Boston to work and have joined the Intercolonial Club, and will play with the Roxbury team during the entire series. The first game will be played next Saturday night at the Arena, and it promises to be the most exciting contest of the local rink this season or any other year.

According to the agreement made for this series, following the announcement by A. A. Smith their team would be strengthened by Sortwell, Blackley and Huntington of the Harvard team. Captain Skilton of the Intercolonials was given the privilege of strengthening his team by three new men. Only three will be allowed for each team and the same lineup must be put on the ice in each game of the series. Skilton is now looking for a third player, and could have as good as either Molyneux or Wiggett hockey "ers" realizing that it will be a hard proposition to pick a winner.

Wiggett will take the place of Small at cover. Small taking Fritz's place at centre and Molyneux will replace Marston at left wing. Both Marston and Fritz will be dropped. Both of these two Canadians have thoroughly signified their intentions, and their services have frequently been sought. Professor Connolly handles teams, but both refuse to turn "pro." Their work for the two games here last week against the Intercolonials and the B. A. A. was a treat to the spectators.

CHRISTOPHER WINNER OVER LYNN BOWLER

John Christopher defeated Bert Rounds of Lynn by ten pins in a hard fought bowling match. The match was advertised between Christopher and Harry Cole, but the latter was unable to compete. As a substitute Rounds proved a revelation. Christopher and Cole will be matched later.

YALE FRESHMEN FOOTBALL GAMES

Oct. 12, Pennsylvania, 1916, at New Haven; Oct. 19, Exeter at Exeter; Oct. 26, Andover at New Haven; Nov. 9, Princeton, 1916, at Princeton; Nov. 16, Harvard, 1916, at New Haven.

Basketball Notes

Manager Frank W. Johnson of the Boylston A. A. basketball team has been having a hard time arranging games during the past few weeks. He had games scheduled with the Tech five, Webster five and Pittons of Fort Hoston, but in each case the team failed to put in appearance. A game was arranged with the Malden Y. M. C. A. for Saturday night, but the Malden management jumped through the traces.

The Notre Dames of South Boston will play the Maynard quintet five at Maynard Hall, South Boston, tomorrow evening for a return game. The Maynard quintet is one of the first class five-handed teams defeating the Notre Dames this season, and the Peninsula boys are out to reverse the tables.

The Whitinon High School team midgets is another team which is willing to pile up a lot of challenges, and when the time for the game comes fails to appear, according to Manager W. Sharpe of the K. O. K. A. basketball team. Manager Sharpe has arranged two games with the Whitinon five this season, but the latter team has failed to show up both times.

James J. Fitzpatrick of Fitchburg writes that he has a team which claims the 115-pound championship of Worcester County. Fitzpatrick can be reached by writing to No. 2564 Main street, Fitchburg.

The Cambridge prefer-local team still has a few open dates and would like to meet any team in the vicinity of East Cambridge and the Revere High School midgets will meet the Revere on March 5 for the midget championship of the State. The Cambridge quintet has won all of its games on the road and has made a very creditable showing.

The Pickering Browns of Salem are anxious to meet any fast 90-95 pound team in the State at home on Thursday evenings. Half expenses given. Manager Everett M. Stewart, No. 10 St. Peter street, Salem.

Manager O'Neil of the Mission Church Field Band midgets claims the 80-85-pound championship of the State and would like to hear from strong teams claiming the title. Manager J. J. O'Neil, No. 37 Whitney street, Roxbury.

BOUTS TONIGHT

Joe Jeanette vs. Andy Morris, New Haven.
Patsy Brannigan vs. Johnny Sinclair, Cleveland.
Frenk Peron vs. Fred Hicks, New York.
Leach Cross vs. Billy Allen, Rochester, N. Y.
Columbia Y. C. South Boston (smoke talk).

Boxing Results in Many Rings

NEW YORK, Feb. 27. — "Knockout" Brown added another victory to his credit at the Irving A. C. in Brooklyn, defeating Joe Coster of that borough in a fast ten-round bout. Brown played for Coster's stomach most of the time, with the result that at the end of the sixth round he had the Brooklynite bolding on to save himself from being knocked out.

CLEVELAND, Feb. 27.—Tommy Gavigan, the Cleveland lad, got the decision over Earnest Bermudez Friday night in a ten-round go before the Printers' Club. The bout put up a pretty fight and Gavigan made his loyal supporters here proud. The Cleveland boy scored one clean knockdown and outpointed his man.

PITTSBURG, Feb. 27. — Monte Attell and Johnny Crosby of Brooklyn went six fast rounds here, the latter having a shade the best. It was an even thing until the fifth round when Crosby threw scores of to the winds and waded into his adversary, finishing the round strong. Attell was unable to ward off the blows and at the end of the round looked pretty groggy.

JANESVILLE, Wis., Feb. 27. — Ruby Hirsch of Chicago had the better of Kid Kraut, also of the Windy City, in an eight-round bout before the Janesville A. C.

FORT SMITH, Ark., Feb. 27.—Battling Nelson, the former lightweight champion, made a chopping block of Young Togo, the Japanese boxer, in a six-round fight here, before a record-breaking crowd.

CINCINNATI, Feb. 27.—Andy Bozenah of Cincinnati and Danny Goodman of Chicago went ten rounds to a draw in the first localized boxing contest held in Cincinnati in ten years.

NEW YORK, Feb. 27.—Young Cashman made Billy Lewis quit in the seventh round of a scheduled bout at the Fordon A. C. Cashman was the aggressor at all times and showered his opponent with right and left swings jolts and hooks until Lewis was unable to stand them any longer.

AKRON, O., Feb. 27.—Johnny Griffiths of Akron has been signed for the twelve-round battle here with Cal Delaney of Cleveland. This is the fourth time these two have been paired. Between battles Delaney has been taken by Griffiths, while one was a draw.

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Feb. 27.—Mike Farragher got the decision over Phil Cassidy in their go here.

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 27.—Eddie Palmer of New Orleans had the better of Johnny Sudin of Bayonne, N. J., in the main bout at the American A. C. Sudin's showing was a disappointment. Palmer dropped Smith in the first round with a right to the jaw, but the latter was up quickly.

NEW YORK, Feb. 27. — Leach Cross outpointed Willie Beecher at the Olympic A. C. Cross showed to good advantage until the final session did he make any serious attempt to end the fight. Beecher was covering up and playing the defensive game and was using a left jab and hook effectively.

SHIN SIGNS CONTRACT WITH THE RED SOX

James Shinn, a third baseman secured from the Sacramento Club of the Pacific Coast League, has sent in his signed contract to the Red Sox. Shinn played 187 games last year for Sacramento, with a fielding average of .894 and a batting average of .289. The batting included forty-four doubles, fourteen triples and four home runs, showing that the boy was a hard hitter. The fielder has also several five points below the leading third baseman of that league.

RAP AT SPECULATORS.

ALBANY, Feb. 27. — Assemblyman Defendorf, designed to prevent ticket speculating at baseball games, passed the assembly. The measure requires baseball admission tickets to have the price printed upon them and prohibits their sale at an increased figure.

Star Quaker Welterweight May Box at a Local Club

By JACK CONWAY.

New England boxing "fans" may soon have an opportunity to see Young McCartney of Philadelphia in action. McCartney is one of the most promising welterweights in the East and capable of holding his own with the leading men of his weight in the country.

McCartney is twenty-two and has been performing in the squared circle for only two years. In this time he has made a remarkable record.

The Philadelphian is an awkward boxer. When he shapes up, he holds his right hand out like Knockout Brown. He is a very rugged fighter and possesses a great punch.

Long List of Knockouts.

McCartney is under the management of Eddie Holland, who is the promoter of the Nanpareil A. C. of Philadelphia. Holland believes that his protege has a fine future in the ring.

McCartney has engaged in twenty-six bouts during the past two years and he has won eleven of them by a knockout, including Jack Kramer, Dave Blair, Hugh Steele, Jack Wilson, Mickey McCormick, Young Marlow, Reddy Holt, Henry Hauber, Tommy Furey, Jack Morris and Mickey Gannon.

McCartney put Tommy Furey to sleep in two rounds last March. Furey went to Philadelphia with the intention of making a clean-up, but his hopes of obtaining fame and glory received a rude setback when he met McCartney.

Just now there is no acknowledged leader in the welterweight division. Young Ertle, Ray Bronson, Mike "Twin" Sullivan and several others claim the title. There are also several "lightweights" who would do better if they came out and declared themselves candidates for the welterweight championship.

Packey McFarland, for example, has been touring the country for several years claiming that he is the greatest lightweight in the world. The Windy City boxer is undoubtedly a good boxer, but he cannot make 135 pounds ringside and still be able to fight. McFarland would undoubtedly be a big success as a welterweight.

Mike Gibbons has given up any claim that he may have had to the welterweight title. Gibbons now weighs 151 pounds and cannot make 142 pounds.

Johnny Kilbane, the Cleveland boy who became featherweight champion by defeating Abe Attell on Washington's Birthday, says that he will not take part in a championship bout until September.

Kilbane plans to gather in the easy money that is to be gained playing vaudeville. When Kilbane returns to the ring, he says that he will give Attell the first bout.

The former featherweight champion is far from being all in. He fights "Harlem" Tommy Murphy in a twenty-round bout on March 9. Abe, of course, will no longer be the attraction that he was when he was the champion.

Jack Johnson is again in bad. Miss Ruth Mehl, a nineteen-year-old Chicago school girl, has brought suit against the heavyweight champion for $25,000. While performing at a Chicago theatre on February 14, Johnson was giving an exhibition of "sag punching."

Johnson ended up his performance by knocking the girl from the rope. The girl went flying through the air and hit Miss Ella Gibson on the audience. She was rendered unconscious and has been sick ever since.

A large number of entries have been received for the amateur boxing tournament of the B. A. A., which opens with the club tomorrow night. This will probably be the last boxing tournament that the Boston Club will hold this season.

The amateur mitt stars are beginning to start training for the New England and national boxing championships which take place in this city in the Spring.

When Bombardier Wells comes to this country he will probably be matched to meet Al Palzer. Palzer is one of the best white heavyweights in the world. He is a fair boxer and a terrific puncher, as one Al Kaufman, of California, will testify.

Mark Spencer will have his work cut out for him when he clashes with Harold Walker at Fall River Thursday night. Walker has been bowling the local bantam weights over in great shape this Winter.

HOLDEN TO CAPTAIN ROXBURY LATIN TEAM

Kenneth Holden has been elected captain of the Roxbury Latin School track team. For the last two years Holden has won the 1,000-yard run at the Triangular meet with Noble & Greenough and Volkmann School.

Holden will succeed Wingate Rollins of Jamaica Plain, who has been a star sprinter the last three years. The latter will enter Harvard next Fall. Roxbury Latin will also lose James Holden and Walter McKim. The former will enter Tufts and McKim will go to Harvard. The following boys were awarded letters yesterday: Nelson Carver, Herbert Hug, Marshall Mills, Walter McKim, Captain Wingate Rollins and Kenneth Holden.

BERNIER TO COACH NINE.

DURHAM, N. H., Feb. 27.—Charles Bernier, recently signed with the Detroit Club of the American League, has been engaged to coach the New Hampshire College baseball team for the coming season. Bernier's home is in Laconia, N. H.

The Prince and the Plutocrat; or, The Grand Babylon Hotel

TODAY'S INSTALMENT

By Arnold Bennett

Copyright, 1910 Frank A. Munsey Company

PART II.—(Continued)

"ANYTHING special in there?" asked Racksole curiously, as they stood before the door and looked within at the serried ends of bottles.

"The best champagne, I suppose?" said Racksole.

"Yes," said Babylon. "The best champagne is there—a very special Sillery, as exquisite as you will find anywhere. But I see, my friend, that you fall into the common error of putting champagne first among wines. That distinction belongs to Burgundy. You have old Burgundy in that cellar, Mr. Racksole, which cost me—how much do you think?—$100 a bottle. Probably it will never be drunk," he added with a sigh; "it is too expensive even for princes and plutocrats."

"Yes, it will," said Racksole quickly, "you and I will have a bottle up to-morrow."

"Then," continued Babylon, still riding his hobby horse, "there is a sample of the Rhine wine dated 1706 which caused such a sensation at the Vienna Exhibition of 1873. There is also a singularly glorious Persian wine from Shiraz, the like of which I have never seen elsewhere. Also there is an unrivaled vintage of Romanee-Conti, greatest of all modern Burgundies; if I remember right, Prince Chigwo invariably has a bottle when he comes to stay here. It is not on the hotel wine list, of course, and only a few connoisseurs know it. We do not precisely hawk it about the dining-room."

"Indeed!" said Racksole. "Let us go inside."

They entered the stone apartment, rendered almost sacred by the preciousness of its contents, and Racksole looked around with a strangely latent and curious air.

At the far side was a grating through which came a feeble light.

"What is that?" asked the millionaire sharply.

"That is merely a ventilation grating. Good ventilation is absolutely essential."

"Looks broken, doesn't it?" Racksole suggested, and then putting a finger quickly on Babylon's shoulder, "There's some one in the cellar. Can't you hear breathing down there, behind the bins?"

The two men stood tense and silent for a while, listening, under the ray of a single light in the ceiling. Half the cellar was involved in gloom.

At length Racksole walked firmly down the central passageway between the bins and turned to the corner at the right.

"Come out, you villian," he said in low, ominous fictions tone, and dragged up a cowering figure.

He had expected to find a man, but it was his own daughter, Nelia Racksole, upon whom he had laid angry hands.

Further Events in the Cellar

"WELL, father," remarked Nella to her astounded parent, "you should make sure that you have got hold of the right person before you use all that terrible muscular force of yours. I do believe you have broken my shoulder bone."

She rubbed her shoulder with a comic expression of pain, and then stood up before the two men. The skirt of her dark gray dress was torn and dirty, and she usually trim Nella looked as though she had been shot down a canvas fire escape.

Felix's drawing-room manners never deserted him upon any occasion whatever.

"May I inquire what you are doing in my wine cellar, Nella Racksole?" said the millionaire, a little stiffly.

He was certainly somewhat annoyed at having mistaken his daughter for a criminal; moreover, he hated to be surprised, and upon this occasion he had been surprised beyond any ordinary amusement; lastly, he was not at all pleased that Nella should be observed in that strange predicament by a stranger.

"I will tell you," said Nella. "I had been reading rather late in my room—the night was so close. I heard Big Ben strike half past twelve, and then I put the book down and went out on the balcony of my window for a little fresh air before going to bed.

"I leaned over the balcony very quietly—you will remember that I am on the third floor now—and looked down below into the little sunken yard which separates the wall of the hotel from Salisbury lane. I was rather astonished to see a figure creeping across the yard.

"I know there was no entrance into the hotel from that yard, and, besides, it is fifteen or twenty feet below the level of the street. So I watched. The figure crept close up against the wall, and disappeared from my view. I leaned over the balcony as far as I dared, but I couldn't see him. I could hear him, however.

"What could you hear?" questioned Racksole sharply.

Sounded Like Sawing

"It sounded like a sawing noise," said Nella, "and it went on for quite a long time, nearly a quarter of an hour, I should think—a rasping sort of noise."

"Why on earth didn't you come and warn me or some one else in the hotel?" asked Racksole.

"Oh, I don't know, dad," she replied, sweetly. "I had got interested in it, and I thought I would see the thing out myself."

"Well, as I was saying, Mr. Babylon," she continued, addressing her remarks now to Felix, with a dazzling smile, "that noise went on for quite a long time, and last it stopped, and the figure reappeared from under the wall, crossed the yard, climbed up the opposite wall by some means or other, and so over the railings into Salisbury lane.

"I felt rather relieved then, because I knew he hadn't actually broken into the hotel. He walked down Salisbury lane very slowly. A policeman was just coming up. 'Good night, officer,' I heard him say to the policeman, and he asked him for a match.

"The policeman supplied the match, and the other man lighted a cigarette and proceeded further down the lane. By craning your neck from my window, Mr. Babylon, you can get a glimpse of the Embankment and the river. I saw the man cross the Embankment, and lean over the river wall, where he seemed to be talking to some one. He then walked along the Embankment toward Westminster, and that was the last I saw of him."

"I waited a minute or two for him to come back, but he didn't come back, and so I thought it was about time I began to make inquiries into the affair. I went downstairs instantly, and out of the hotel through the quadrangle into Salisbury lane, and looked over those railings.

"There was a ladder on the other side, by which it was perfectly easy—some one had got over the railings—to climb down into the yard. I was horribly afraid long some one might walk up Salisbury lane and catch me in the act of negotiating these railings, but no one did, and I surmounted them with no worse damage than a torn skirt.

"I crossed the yard on tiptoe, and I found that in the wall, close to the ground, and almost exactly under my window, there was an iron grating, about one foot by fourteen inches. I suspected, as there was no other ironwork near, that the mysterious visitor must have been sawing this grating.

"I gave it a good shake, and I was not at all surprised that a good piece of it came off in my hand, leaving just enough room for a person to creep through. I decided that I would creep through, and now I wish I hadn't. I don't know, Mr. Babylon, whether you have ever tried to creep through a very small hole, with a skirt on. Have you?"

"I have not had the pleasure," said little Felix, bowing gravely and carefully taking up a bottle which lay to his hand.

"Well, you are fortunate," the impenitable Nella resumed. For quite three minutes I thought I should perish in that grating, dad, with my shoulder inside and the rest of me outside. However, at last with the most amazing and agonizing efforts, I pulled myself through and fell into this extraordinary cellar, and there I was, too."

"Then I wondered what I should do next. Should I wait for the mysterious visitor to return and stab him with my pocket scissors if he tried to enter? Or should I raise an alarm?

Lillian Lorraine's Beauty Secrets for Girls

"How I Discovered the Right Way to Keep Facial Youth"

By LILLIAN LORRAINE.

ONCE when I was a little girl at school there was an epidemic of scarlet fever.

Of course I was taken out of school and the doctor was sent for, though I felt perfectly well and delighted at the thought of a holiday.

Our doctor was a pompous old man with a Scotch accent, and he put me through the regular paces.

"Stick out your tongue."

"Hold out your wrist, etc.

Then he gave minute instructions about baths and wound up by talking "purrs." At least that's what I understood. I was terribly excited because I had been reading about an enchanted cat who was a princess, and I thought if I developed a purr the rest of the story might come true, too.

All day long I went around purring, but nothing happened, and finally weeping with disappointment I was put to bed. The mistake was then explained to me. It was my PORES the doctor had talked about, not my purr.

Her First Lesson

Because I was so unhappy about not being an enchanted kitty I could not sleep, and so I asked all about pores and had my first lesson in beauty right then and there. The doctor had said that all the pores must be kept open and clean. That was as important to health just then as it was to beauty later on.

It was explained to me then that those tiny pores, and there are many millions of them in the skin, were the little mouths through which the skin breathes, and when those little pores are clogged all kinds of troubles begin, which show especially on the face, such as pimples and blackheads for instance.

I have never forgotten that lesson, which is still linked in my mind with my childish desire to be the enchanted kitten—to this day nothing makes me feel so much like purring as the sensation of absolute physical cleanliness.

I believe cleanliness is the first principle of beauty; without it no woman can be really beautiful or attractive.

By cleanliness I mean a great deal more than just keeping your face and hands clean. Real cleanliness means keeping the body wholesome and vigorous, the skin supple and clean by means of those pores.

The Way to Rest

When you are tired and feel physically and mentally depressed nothing will set you up so quickly as a hot bath, because the heat of the water opens those pores and helps them throw off the impurities which clog them by stimulating the circulation of the blood.

You should follow the hot bath with a quick cold sponge, which will make you feel fine no matter how tired you are.

It is only after taking a bath like this that you can begin to work over your complexion with any success.

After a hot bath the face is flushed and the pores are open. Now take a magnifying mirror and look at your skin very closely.

Of course you will find imperfections in it.

Almost every woman does nowadays, and even the greatest beauties cannot afford to be indolent with themselves or to disregard the reflection in the mirror, which enlarges every speck.

"CLEANLINESS IS THE FIRST PRINCIPLE OF BEAUTY. "WITHOUT IT NO WOMAN CAN BE REALLY BEAUTIFUL OR ATTRACTIVE.

"THE MORE BEAUTIFUL YOU ARE THE MORE CRITICAL YOU MUST BE OF YOUR GOOD LOOKS.

"ETERNAL VIGILANCE IS THE PRICE A BEAUTY HAS TO PAY FOR THE ADMIRATION SHE RECEIVES.

LILLIAN LORRAINE SAYS:

"Every woman should have a magnifying mirror.

"The vain woman will be cured of her vanity if she studies herself closely in it.

"The woman who considers herself ugly will find out some of the reasons why her complexion is bad.

"That will be the first step in the cure.

"The reason actresses have better complexions than women in private life is because they use so much cold cream and give themselves a regular massage every time they put make-up on and take it off."

The more beautiful you are the more critical you must be of your looks.

Great beauties are never very vain, though they appear to be sometimes. They know too well that their reputation for good looks depends on constant care.

Eternal vigilance is the price which the beauty has to pay for the admiration she receives.

Most women would say that it is cheap at that price, but only a real beauty can understand what slavery it is to live up to that reputation.

Let her appear once in public with a dowdy frock, an unbecoming hat or a shiny nose and people will say: "I don't see why she's called a beauty," and they never will get over that impression.

A Revelation

Well, let me get back to the magnifying mirror. I think every woman should have one. The vain woman will be cured of her vanity if she studies herself closely in it, and the woman who considers herself ugly will find out some of the reasons why her complexion is bad, and that will be the first step in the cure.

The first thing that will strike you in looking into this mirror is the quantity of black specks in the skin. Some of these blackheads can be removed with a face scrubbing brush, others will yield to the pressure of a comedo extractor, which is sold at all drug stores.

After the hot bath and before the skin is dried, press out the little black specks and then wipe the skin off with witchhazel on a bit of cotton. Leave the cotton on if the skin feels sore.

Most people concede that actresses have better skins than women in private life, and I think the reason is that we all have to use so much cold cream on our faces and that we give ourselves a regular massage every time we put make-up on and take it off.

I'm sure I do. Of course, too, we get the best cream in the market, and we experiment until we find just what cream agrees with our individual skin.

Everyone's skin is different. You would find that out if you had tried as many different kinds of face preparations as I have.

Personally I never use water on my face in Winter time. I clean it several times a day with an especial kind of cold cream.

This keeps the skin soft and clear, and with my mirror I can detect the first sign of any blemish and cure it before any one else can see it.

Natick, Mass. — "I cannot express what I went through during the change of life before I tried Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I was in such a nervous condition I could not keep still. My limbs were cold, I had creepy sensations, and I could not sleep nights. I was finally told by two physicians that I also had a tumor. I read one day of the wonderful cures made by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and decided to try it, and it has made me a well woman. My neighbors and friends declare it has worked a miracle for me. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is worth its weight in gold for women during this period of life. If it will help others you may publish my letter."—Mrs. MARION SWEET GREATON, No. 1 Jefferson St., Natick, Mass.

Change of Life is one of the most critical periods of a woman's existence. Women everywhere should remember that there is no other remedy known to so successfully carry women through this trying period as Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Every woman ought to have Lydia E. Pinkham's 80-Page Text Book. It is not a book for general distribution as it is too expensive. It is free and obtainable by mail. Write for it today. Lydia E. Pinkham Med. Co., Lynn, Mass.

Desperate Desmond

Blowing Bubbles Is No Sign of Childhood in the Villain—Far from It, as You See Below

Copyright, 1912, National News Association

By Hershfield

Claude Eclaire and his sweetheart, the beautiful Rosamond, are again in triumphant mood. They have the notorious villain Desperate Desmond in their power, and the United States troops will see that he does not escape. At last the villain seems about to expiate his crimes. He is being taken to a Chinese jail, and Chinese jails are not pleasant dwelling places.

Although confined in a small cell in a Chinese jail, Desmond does not abandon hope. He is always on the alert to take advantage of any chance that may be in sight, and so when he peers through the bars and sees the Chinese guard asleep he begins to think that opportunity is present. So he reaches out and takes the man's abandoned opium pipe.

In the cell Desmond now has an opium pipe. He cannot break any bars with it or use it very well to Jimmy his way through the walls, but he has a plan. Mixing up some chloroform, which he carries for emergencies, with soap, which he carries for daily use, Desmond plans to blow some bubbles that will cause a lot of trouble to others.

And now we see the bubble factory in full blast. The villain might be a small boy again, so busily is he blowing bubbles from that strange pipe. The ordinary soap bubble, however, is a harmless, pretty thing, but these, while just as pretty, are extremely deadly. Desmond's smile is not one of childish glee in watching the pretty bubbles sail gayly through the air.

Outside the jail, Claude and Rosamond, not trusting to the vigilance of the Chinese guards, are watching closely the cell in which Desmond is confined. Sad to say, their very caution proves their undoing, for most of the bubbles come down in their direction, and as they burst, spread the chloroform around. So a strange dizziness overtakes hero Claude and beautiful Rosamond.

"I'm the boy!" cries Desperate Desmond, "and I'll capture the sleeping beauty!" He has escaped from the jail, with all the guards drugged, and now sees Claude and Rosamond lying unconscious. The scoundrel's plan turned out all right—for himself—and he is now master of the situation again. What will be the fate of Rosamond, and what the fate of Claude? See tomorrow's pictures.

NEW OFFERINGS AT BOSTON PLAYHOUSES

By NICHOLAS YOUNG.

John Mason and his "authoritative person," which the author was good enough to recall in a pretty curtain speech at the Shubert last evening, gave Augustus Thomas' latest play of the "deep drought" variety its full share of distinctive acting. "As a Man Thinks" caught last evening's audience and held it tight for four acts, which, as the modern measure of drama goes, was enough to make everybody happy.

Even eyes that were dimmed could see that Mr. Thomas had doubtless had Mr. Mason in his mind when he began constructive operations on the play; and it is only fair to remark that an actor of the present day has had a better dramatist to supply acting material. There is no mock, in common, professionality between Mr. Thomas and Mr. Mason that neither gets the worst of the combination. Let's be honest and say they both get the best of it. At any rate, "As a Man Thinks" carried Mr. Mason into familiarly serious paths that kept his evening occupied in straightening out other people's troubles, adding zero and there a bit of unselfishness that fell agreeably upon an audience that thoroughly believed in the benevolent words of the hero. By which you may believe that both Mr. Mason and his author had a rather large night of it—as first nights go.

Mind Versus Medicine.

Again we found Mr. Thomas writing of things that concern the human mind, laying particular stress upon the proper value of clean thinking when dealing with some scandalous. With Mr. Mason as an intelligent spokesman he presented a entertaining example of the superiority of mind over medicine. It proved a generous argument for the Emmanuel movement.

Incidental to the conclusion that the mind is the main thing in the proper and safe development of human life, Mr. Thomas introduced his audience to a new view of the always debatable question of with Mr. Mason, as Dr. Seelig, giving the Hebrew side of the argument much the best side of it. Racial prejudice, however, was made an incidental rather than an important feature of the play.

As might be expected, Mr. Mason gave a flawless performance. He seldom fails in this direction. Always sure of himself, he maintained perfect control of his situations and carried his audience along with him in little trips into the philosophy of right living and healthy thinking. He furnished a fine stimulus for the remainder of the acting, and gave the performance the benefit of his unerring skill in driving every dramatic point across to the audience.

Shines in New Play.

As a contribution to the drama of racial distinctions, "As a Man Thinks" gave the Hebrew much to be thankful for—and without unnecessarily sacrificing him in contrast to the splendid moral and mental characteristics of Dr. Seelig, the author presented a character that will not cause a pen cause to the dirty work, which introduced Walter Hale as Benjamin De Lota. Seelig and De Lota furnished the play its good and all of the evil in "As a Man Thinks."

To those who take the drama seriously, "As a Man Thinks" will measure up to "The Witching Hour," although it is less melodramatic, and consequently less interesting to its admirers. It is not an example of straight from the shoulder acting, however. Mr. Mason has never appeared to better advantage. He convinces you with the sincerity of his task, which after all is something to be reckoned with in a play that requires the support of an upholstered side of the footlights as well as on the stage.

Neither Mr. Mason, who acted as if he been business, nor Mr. Thomas had anything to regret after last evening's performance.

Plymouth.

One of the greatest serious and realistic plays seen in Boston for many seasons, "The Deep Purple," opened to a crowded and appreciative house at the Plymouth last night.

"The Deep Purple" is by Paul Armstrong and the scene is laid in Paris. The story of a group of New York theives to rob a young American girl, Miss Hollis, unsuspecting minister's daughter as a decoy.

The man from the West proves to be the former's undoing. He falls in love with and finally rescues the clergyman's daughter from the thieves. The scene is afterward that she had been lured from home under pretense of marriage by a younger element of the gang with whom she was to be married.

Added realism is obtained by having the girl make friends with a disreputable woman thief, who guards the runaway. A repentant gun-man, who has a price on his head, also plays an important part in the plot, the thieves attempting to sell him to the police while under bodily game.

"The Deep Purple" differs from any other criminal play seen in Boston for many months, inasmuch as the attempt of real life than a representation. Sydney Booth as Hollis is good. He is a mining engineer, makes an ideal hero, without overdoing the part. Violet Heming, played by Violet Heming, is seen to good advantage as the minister's daughter.

Ada Dwyer, as Kate Falun, the reformed thief; George M. Fee, as Jim Hollis; Robert Cain, as Harry Leland (two of the heroes), and William Beach, as Gordon Laylock, the repentant gun-man, all play their parts capably.

Miss Dwyer and Mr. Fee have especially difficult parts but are equal to them. Robert Cain, as the hero, is also very effective. In fact, the whole company was exceptionally good, and the acting that marked the dramatic climax was good the acting was appreciated by the large audience.

Hollis.

When a stage woman "comes back," she invariably begins her regeneration in a new black dress. In the play, "The Fashion" comes back," but if they do it sanely is when they have not sufficient money to buy a new dress of any kind—black, green or purple. Since Dorothy Hallowell did not go far enough in the "The Grain of Dust" to have a very long or pathetic period "coming back," she began it in the last act of the play, which opened Monday night at the Hollis Street Theatre, in a gown of dark blue. Which was a compromise, so to speak, for the audience in the distance she "went away."

In her words, Dorothy Graham Phillips' young heroine was an unusual fugitive. There was no other man in the case. The love of her husband, Hollis, had apparently ruined him in his profession and in almost every other respect. When he was put down and out, his wife packed up a small hand bag and went away—not for the delightful feminine reason that she loved him. In her absence, Hollis made a pile of good luck, required his broken fortune and then—the wife "came back" to him never even asked her where she had been or what she had done. She didn't even say "hello." There was not the slightest trace of the contempt which a man would have had for a "fallen" wife. There was not for sheer wickedness or simple idiocy, deserted him in such a time of need. The wife appeared suddenly, just in time to plead the cause of the other woman who had ruined her husband. Because of her pleas the husband forgave. Then they fell into his arms, murmured some words of affection and the curtain fell on with Dorothy Hallowell Norman in his arms.

Louis Evan Shipman has made a simple love story out of the "Grain of Dust"—a delicious strength and coldness in business and a rich if unreasonable weakness and simple-mindedness in his affair with his stenographer. Jessie Ralph was the delightful employed" girl, except for her eccentric description of Norman, in Phillips' story E. M. Holland gives an entertaining impersonation of the warm-hearted William Fellow, and the others in the cast are capable.

"The Grain of Dust" is interesting, notwithstanding its lack of feminine interest, and will please those who see it, particularly the women who are ardent readers of love stories.

Keith's.

George W. Wilson, formerly of the Museum stock company, is the star of this week's cast at B. F. Keith's Theatre in Robert J. Davis' piece, "Buck Penslon." Wilson is deservedly popular with Boston audiences, but his appearance makes an especial appeal, because of his play, which is based on a particularly home and canseu both tears and smiles.

Wilson plays the part of an old soldier, a sergeant, who served under General Grant, and in the general still is the greatest man in history and the best hero. Indeed, a picture of Grant on his wall is the old man's companion in his little home. The other leading character is the miserly owner of the house in which the old sergeant lives. His refusal to grant time, in the soldier's distress at his inability to pay and the arrival of the happy ending in an envelope bringing the man's back pension form the theme of the play.

George Spink and Pauline Welch, the Saucy Trio with their accordion dogs, Tawyo Ward, "The Boy with the Moocole"; a musical act by Ward Bros., Five Foster and Mildred Williams in "The Girl Afraid," Joe and May Burke and the acrobatic brothers Martine round out an attractive bill.

Gaiety Theatre.

"The World of Pleasure," with a company of more than twenty good looking young women and a group of lively comedians, moved in the Gaiety Theatre yesterday and made a complete success of the day's audiences. The Gordon-North Amusement Company, which is responsible for this entertainment, has furnished the burlesque stage with many of its best attractions, and in "The World of Pleasure" another bulb is required. What with the entertainment is largely of the burlesque style of nonsense, it is possessed of many substantial qualities that make it more than agreeable to its followers.

National.

This week at the National Theatre, Rose Stinson, the champion girl swimmer, is saying farewell to large audiences prior to her departure for Europe, where she will attempt to duplicate Captain Webb's swim across the English channel. Besides her swimming exhibitions, which are difficult and swimming feats. She introduced a new swimming trick, that of walking on her hands in the water without touching the bottom of the tank.

Besides the singing and dancing comedians, Jarvis and Leighton; Signor Castalloni's band of seven in selection on curious instruments; Bert Granville, stories and impersonations; Arthur Picken and two attractive girls in a laughable skit called "Parlor Pranks"; Gertie Price, Chris and Vicklets, the Claremont Brothers, and Nat Clark, all participate capitally.

Premier Theatre.

Among the new pictures in the program at the Premier Theatre yesterday were "The Virgin of Babylon," a Biblical narrative, and "Washington in Danger," a war picture that aroused enthusiasm. Beginning with matinee and continuing through Thursday, one of the biggest motion pictures of the year, "The Girl of the Golden West," will be exhibited. "The Girl of the Prairie," and is made in two reels. Nothing more interesting has ever been attempted by motion picture manufacturers, and with herds of cattle, hundreds of cow boys and Indians and the atmosphere of the West, the films should prove a hit.

Orpheum Theatre.

There is much to enjoy in the new bill at the Orpheum Theatre. Winkler & Military Dancers make one of the best dancing features of the season, and Harry Brooks and company in "The Old Minstrel Man" gave a satisfactory performance. A dozen other novelties and a new list of motion pictures completed the program.

Grand Opera House.

"Uncle Tom's Cabin" made good at the Grand Opera House last evening. Although more than a half-century old, there is still a demand for this interesting story of slavery days, and the production at the Grand Opera House measures up to a high standard. The company is headed by Gus Collins, who plays Uncle Tom. The balance of the cast is made up of competant players.

Bowdoin Square Theatre.

The Four Juggling Girls headed the new bill at the Bowdoin Square Theatre yesterday. Other vaudeville features and a long list of motion pictures made up the program.

Howard Athenaeum.

It's athletic week at the Old Howard, with Ingalls and Her Arlen as the top-card in a sketch entitled, "The Trip from Reno." Mr. O'Brien shapes up like a real winner as the champion of the welterweight title. The burlesque is furnished by the Imperial Burlesquers and reads: Willard Cooper, Violet Hilson, Clayton Frye, Peter Griffin, Margaret Lee and the fun is always on the move.

Austin & Stone's.

"Cigarette Larry," who is one of the attractions at Austin & Stone's Museum, is also one of the most remarkable men now on public exhibition. From the expensive use of cigarettes he has fallen off in weight from 150 pounds to about 45 pounds. He tells an absorbing story of his slavery to tobacco.

Hub Theatre.

A new list of vaudeville features and motion pictures was presented at the Hub Theatre yesterday. The entertainment proved agreeable to large audiences during the day.

Scenic Temple.

The new program at the Scenic Temple this week is one that will surely interest those seeking refined entertainment. New vaudeville and moving pictures make up the list.

Globe Theatre.

In the few weeks that the Globe has been engaged in vaudeville, the management has succeeded in presenting theatregoers that remarkably good shows can be presented at low prices. The program for this week is another "corker." The Bragaar Brothers are a remarkable pair of comedy athletes, and their difficult tricks on the bars and their tumbling in the air of one has seldom been excelled. The Four Juggling Johnsons fill the stage with clubs, all flying in different directions. The Wangdoodle Four, who are colored singers with remarkably good voices and their comic by play is new and entertaining. Charles and Cora Smith have a singing, instrumental and talking novelty; and Knapp and Knapp offer a pleasing novelty. "The Seeds and His Girl," Mr. Knapp is a clever Swedish impersonator.

Irene Carroll, with songs and stories; the Rays, and the pictures were all excellent. "The Cowboy and the Tramp Out Night," and actors who wish to get into the movies will have a chance to display their "goods." This will be a regular "Tuesday" night feature.

Waldron's Casino.

"The Big Banner Show" was the attraction at Waldron's Casino Theatre yesterday. Two lively burlettas and a long list of fine numbers made the programme attractive.

Holmes' Final Lecture.

The last of the Burton Holmes illustrated lectures in Tremont Temple will be given next Friday evening and Saturday afternoon. The Friday evening subject will be "Through Spain with Kodak" and Saturday afternoon the subject will be "Two Ways Around the World."

Testimonial to McGrath.

A testimonial performance of "The Chocolate Soldier" at the Majestic next Monday will be made a testimonial benefit to Frank Metiza, treasurer of the theatre. Every seat in the house is occupied on that night.

Plays That Hold Over.

"The Pink" Lady began the final week of its engagement at the Colonial last evening.

"Up to Down East" is now on its last week at the Majestic Theatre.

With this week remains of "The Product of the Mill" at the Castle Square Theatre. This week is the seventh and last week of its engagement at the Tremont last evening.

Plays Announced.

"The Rose Maid" will come to the Colonial next Monday.

"The Private Secretary" will be Mr. Craig's offering at the Castle Square Theatre next Monday.

Margaret Anglin in "Gypsy Love" will come to the Tremont Monday, March 11.

"The Chocolate Soldier" will come to Boston next week, coming to the Majestic.

Auto News

By J. C. KERRISON.

A force of decorators and carpenters has taken possession of the Mechanics Building and under the guidance of Chester I. Campbell, commencing today, will convert the hall in readiness to receive the motor cars which will be assembled there for the exhibition of the Boston Automobile Dealers' Association, which opens there on Saturday next.

This is a stupendous work—one in which great care has to be taken in order to have the cars placed to the best effect by decorator, and nothing will be allowed in the halls until the grand floor of the decorating work has been accomplished.

The canopy, which will form the ceiling of Mechanics Hall, will be placed in position this morning; the sides of both halls will be covered, and the work will commence the duty of dividing the floor space, which is to be given to small accessories.

No cars will be allowed in the building before Saturday morning, it being the desire of Manager Campbell to give the dealers the best possible opportunity.

The local dealers are decidedly busy these days getting their cars after the individual portion of the display. While many of the dealers are in possession of their show displays, quite a number are awaiting the arrival of the cars which are now on their way around the circuit, and every effort is being made to get them to the Boston in season for the opening of the show.

The Boston show is the first in the local motor world for the next three weeks to be held, and as a result of the interest that there is in the motor industry of America, it will be well worth visiting parties, to exhibit being open to the world.

Many of the dealers have already been allotted and these are manufacturers and dealers who have been in the business for, is, however, no one's fault but their own, as the Boston Automobile Association gave space until the last moment only to find that the unfortunate, outside the exhibition hall.

Eddie Schen says there is nothing like an actor's life. The recent show of the Bay State Automobile Association gave his competitors an opportunity to get in touch with his customers, and one of them a barrel of money for his rehearsals and last, but not least, he is bemoaning the loss of a watch. Schen says he has a kick coming so long as the club benefited.

TO-DAY'S STOCK MARKETS

COPPER SHARES FIRM IN TONE

STATE STREET, Feb. 27 (Midday.—Copper shares were firm in tone in the Boston market today. Mayflower and Old Colony were strong and active features at the start. There was considerable business done in the first hour.

Industrials were the weak feature of the New York market. Leading coppers were stronger there. Reports from London were encouraging, as miners have consented to a conference. Rio Tintos went to 70¾, a gain of ⅝, and De Beers recovered an early loss of 1⅜. It is now hoped in England that a national coal strike will be averted.

New York and London Markets.

Yielding to pressure, which resulted chiefly from the posting of a dividend by Republic Iron & Steel, the stock market opened off to-day with Republic leading the downward movement. Republic Iron & Steel preferred opened at 64¾, as against 67 at the close yesterday. The action of Republic Steel was generally looked upon by traders as prophetic in view of the fight being made in Washington to reduce tariffs on iron and steel. Considerable selling was also under pressure, the common falling ⅜ to 16⅝ and the preferred losing one point.

Southern Pacific Co. Corporation lost 1¼, and fractional declines were recorded in Pressed Steel Car and other industrials. Other opening losses were Baltimore & Ohio ¼, Reading ⅜ and Delaware Railway ¾.

United States Steel common, after opening unchanged, made a slight gain, fell to ⅛, the end of a few minutes' trading a better tone prevailed.

Call money was dull.

Money Statements and Rates.

Boston loaning rates on stocks today were Amalgamated 2 and 3; American Telephone 2 bid; North Butte 3 bid; Isle Royale 4 bid; Calumet & Arizona 3 bid; Mayflower flat; Steel 2 and 3 per cent.

New York loaning rates on stocks were Amalgamated, Union Pacific and Steel common 2 and 2½; Canadian Pacific and Smelting 2½ offers 2¾ per cent.

The New York Sub-Treasury gained $2,765,000 from the banks yesterday, and since Friday has gained $4,871,000.

In London at the copper opening today spot was quoted at 464.2s.6d., unchanged, and futures 461.10s., unchanged, and the market was firm. The pig tin market was firm, spot 202.5s., up 5s.; futures 191.10s., off 5s.; Spanish pig lead 15.10s., up 2s.6d. Silver was steady at 27d. and unchanged at 26.15-16d. Gold premium at Madrid 7.60, at Lisbon 2.

In Paris at 2 p. m. rentes 94f. 80c., unchanged.

At London, 12:30 p. m., money 3½% per cent. Discount short bills 3 5-16@3 7-16, three months 3-16@⅜. Consols are unchanged at 78⅜ for money and account. Trifling bar gold is quoted. The London mine has been temporarily stopped at 1250 feet, the broken ground not having been overcut. No important disclosures are looked for from the mine.

It is stated that the Miami Copper Company's dividend will be declared on the basis of 50 cents a share quarterly, and not 75 cents, which is expected at the annual meeting tomorrow, will show a large decline in net earnings.

It is stated in Chicago that the minority interests in the Western Electric Company have been offered $250 a share for their holdings by the American Telephone & Telegraph Company. The minority holdings are said to be less than 10 per cent of the capital stock.

One Wall Street rumor is that there are large blocks of shares of Union Pacific common now outstanding, and another stay is that "a certain long account in U. S. Steel is on the point of letting go." The support that the stock is getting seems to confirm the report but Morgan people have said they are going to give this well distributed support, if anything like it is needed.

Coal Strike and Cotton Market.

NEW YORK, Feb. 27.—On the strength of optimistic reports from London suggesting that the coal strike might be prevented, the cotton market opened steadily 2 to 3 points higher today. A strike might close down the textile industry in the United States from $1,500,000 to $2,000,000 a week. MONEY TALKS

This Piano $89

PRICE OUR ONLY ARGUMENT

OUR ONLY ARGUMENT IN SELLING PIANOS IS PRICE. It makes no difference to us what make of piano you take. We do not say that this piano here has better tone than others, that piano there is made of better materials, that piano over there is the same make as such and such a famous person owns, and so on. We simply talk price, and when it comes to price we can talk prices that no other dealer in the city can touch. We can save you anywhere from $100 to $200 on a piano. They come in here and are put on our sacrifice floor with a price on the tag that sometimes seems an insult. But they must go. We cannot keep them. A slight profit above the cost of handling is all we ask. Hundreds of wise people have reaped the benefit. Were you one? If not, come out and see us this week. You'll never regret it.

SPECIAL NOTICE TO PIANO DEALERS No piano will be sold to dealers or makers for a less price than marked for public sale. Each Piano is marked a selling price to cover expenses, and in no case can a maker or dealer get a lower price than an individual. This applies to a dealer's or manufacturer's own make or any other make.

PIANOS STORED BY MONTH OR YEAR—LOW RATES—INSURED.

Three years allowed to test the pianos. If not satisfied, same amount allowed on any of our 300 new pianos in stock.

Public Authorities Setting the Examples in Wrongdoing

How Does It Happen the Militia Allows a Mob of Policemen to Run Amuck Among Law-Abiding Citizens and Commit Brutalities Upon Women and Children?

Some time ago the AMERICAN called attention to a dangerous feature of the strike at Lawrence. It was the abuse of the processes of the law, by which a fellow American was arrested on a charge of murder, deprived of his liberty without bail, incarcerated among criminals, left there to pine, the victim of all the dilatory tactics known to the law, and upon a charge of murder which might as well have been made against the authorities as against Mr. Ettor.

It would hardly be expected that one strike would produce another instance of official lawlessness, in some of its phases even worse than the treatment of Mr. Ettor. But the scenes at the railroad station, when the fathers and mothers and lawful custodians of the children of some of the strikers were about to put them on board the train which would carry them away to destinations already provided for them, surpass any instance of lawlessness which has occurred in Massachusetts in recent years, and it was committed by those whom the public hires to uphold the law.

In ordinary strikes we are accustomed to expect occasional examples of disorders and violence by which one side or the other of the controversy violates the rights of the other side, but in this extraordinary situation at Lawrence we have the public authorities setting the examples in wrongdoing.

The AMERICAN does not believe that children should be taken from their parents and sent into strange places except under grave necessity. The first migration of children appeared to have as its object the exhibition of the children as a means of proselyting for the industrial organization to which the Lawrence strike leaders are attached. It was believed at that time also that the parents of the children were not fully informed of the purpose of their transportation. Under these circumstances, the AMERICAN strongly condemned such use of these little children and urged that it be stopped.

But it now appears that, whatever may be their object, the parents are deliberately assenting to the sending away of their children, and the police of Lawrence have no more right to prevent them from doing so than the police of your town, Mr. Reader, have the right to prevent you from sending your child on a visit to a friend whenever it pleases you so to do.

The city of Lawrence ought to be ashamed of the performances of its police. If there is no one in Lawrence competent to protect its citizens in their constitutional rights then the government of Lawrence ought to be suspended, courts and all, until the crisis is passed.

The militia is under the command of the Governor. He sent them there to protect the people of Lawrence in their lawful rights. He sent them there to protect all the people in all their rights—not some of them in some of their rights. He sent them there to protect those who wanted to go to the mills for work. He sent them there to protect the property rights of the millowners.

But how does it happen that the militia allows a mob of policemen to run amuck among law-abiding citizens and commit brutalities upon women and children. What difference does it make whether lawless violence is committed by men in workingmen's garb or in policemen's uniform. The uniform only emphasizes the disgrace of the crime.

It is ridiculous to say that the militia took no part in the disgraceful performance at the station. It was bad enough that they failed to protect the fathers and mothers in their rights over their children, but it was worse that they should have stood by ready to reinforce the police if they proved to be unable to consummate their lawless purpose.

Attorney-Generals are useful, but Governors have responsibilities and the Commander-in-Chief of the militia can do far more to uphold the law in Lawrence than even twenty Attorney-Generals. Governor Foss' heart is right but he has been dealing with this situation too much at long range.

In the meantime Massachusetts is the object of a surprised but not an admiring scrutiny by all the country.

Preserve Our Battle Flags and Trophies of Victory

Crumbling to dust in boxes stored in the Naval Academy are 138 battle flags that flew from ships made famous by American heroes or were captured from the enemy.

To save these priceless trophies the Naval Committee recommends an appropriation of $30,000. It depends upon Congress whether these relics of our wars shall be saved or lost to posterity.

Chief among these standards is the world-known blue flag of Commodore Perry, on which are inscribed in white letters the immortal words of the dying Lawrence: "Don't give up the ship." This banner speaks eloquently of Perry's victory over the British on Lake Erie on September 10, 1813.

Among other flags is the first American ensign hoisted in Japan by Commodore Perry July 14, 1853, the flag of the Alert taken in the war of 1812 by Captain David Porter, and the flag of the Governor-General of the Philippines taken by Admiral Dewey.

All these can be preserved by mounting on a linen background and the injured portions patched with silk. Already two flags have been so preserved to the satisfaction of the Committee. In its report it recalls that a thousand years ago the wife of the Duke of Normandy made the Bayeux tapestries, now perfectly preserved, by a method similar to the one proposed for the flags.

Surely no money could be spent to better advantage than in keeping intact these visible witnesses of the great achievements of our navy.

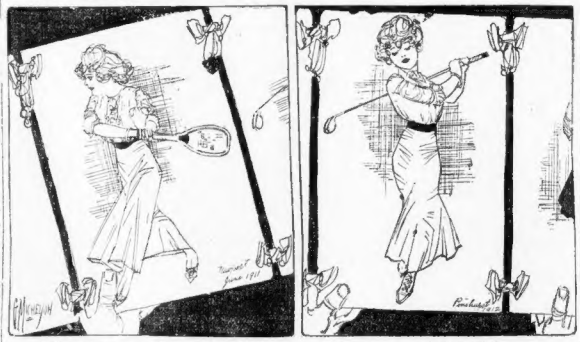
Girlies I Have Met

By MICHELSON



Nell's postcard from Newport was sweet,
And showed her at tennis, so neat,
So graceful and smart
That it captured my heart—
A sort of post-card-iac treat.

From Lenox, in thrilling detail,
She pictured her golf-trophied trail,
And her glorious poise
Made me thrill with the joys
Of studying beauty by mail.

I talked to my heart, and I toiled
To get Cupid's shackles uncoiled;
But one rapturous view
Of her fencing was too,
Too much! With the foils I was foiled.

I decided the best place to tell
My love was while skating—Ah, well,
It must be confessed
She was pressed to my chest;
But that hug was Love's funeral knell.

The Brain Depends on the Stomach

If the Brain Is Worth Educating, the Stomach Is Worth Feeding, Since Without Good Blood Manufactured in the Stomach the Brain Cannot Work

Copyright, 1912, by American-Journal-Examiner

The city of Denver, thanks to Judge Lindsey and other intelligent human beings—AND THANKS ESPECIALLY TO THE FACT THAT DENVER WOMEN CAN VOTE AND AFFECT THE LAWS—is actually interesting itself in the welfare of children.

Investigation has shown in Denver, as it shows everywhere, that many children are unable to study properly in the public schools BECAUSE THEY ARE UNDERFED.

Denver proposes to establish free lunches for school children and see to it that the mind of the child SHALL BE MADE FIT FOR PUBLIC EDUCATION BY SUFFICIENT AND PROPER NOURISHMENT.

In this line of action Denver is following along the line of common sense and decency—a line that has long been followed in France and elsewhere.

The fact that children should have education free was realized in the United States long ago. We realized that life in a republic ought to mean opportunity, and that there could be no opportunity without free education. It is important to go farther and realize that education is worthless when given to a child with a half-starved body and mind.

A certain collection of idiots, of course, will talk of paternalism and socialism as soon as you suggest that the welfare of children should be the affair of the State.

But in spite of the old-fashioned, foolish outcry against paternalism, it is a fact that the public authorities should study the children and protect them from their birth on.

The nation which tells every farmer how to take care of the newborn pig should tell mothers how to take care of their new-born children.

The national and State governments which fight against the spreading of animal diseases should fight against the spreading of disease among children.

Public school examinations should include not merely examinations in spelling and multiplication, but also examination of the general health, weighing the children at intervals and taking blood tests when lack of strength is shown.

And the public school authorities everywhere should supply competent physicians to examine the children's eyesight and the children's teeth, and to explain the needs of children to the parents AND REMEDY THE EVILS WHEN THE PARENTS ARE UNABLE TO DO SO.

Perhaps we must be contented for some years or centuries longer to let Christian men and women struggle for a living, like snakes in a swamp, with "the devil take the hindmost" for our motto. But as regards children, at least, it is time to take seriously the Christian religion, which so many of us profess, and to take seriously the doctrine of decency and responsibility, which we ought to profess, and give the children at least an opportunity at the beginning of life.

The trifling amount spent for the underfed child, the trifling amount spent for the child whose eyes or teeth are neglected and in need of care, general supervision of the child's welfare, in addition to the more forcible injection of a certain amount of public school education into the child's head, would give us in one generation a nation 50 per cent. better than the nation of today.

The improving of the nation by improving the people in it ought to be the business of government and of enlightened human beings—in spite of selfishness and stupidity which croak "paternal socialism" when any suggestion is made that lacks the beautiful element of absolute selfishness.

Children do not come here of their own accord. The nation and the successful individuals in it owe a duty to the children, as well as the physical fathers and mothers.

And it is important to do away with the disgrace of giving merely free EDUCATION to children whose half-starved and unhealthy bodies cannot absorb the knowledge offered to them.

Hunting a Snap

By WEX JONES

DRIFTING round from job to job, always quick to quit,
Changing jobs for other jobs every little bit.
Extra work—puts on his coat—says it is too strong,
Couldn't think of doing it, 'twould keep him there too long.
Has a date that evening—going to a show—
Why abandon it for work?—that's what he'd like to know.
He won't work himself to death—he's too wise a chap—
That's the fellow you all know who's looking for a snap.

Now you see him working less and hunting round the more,
Chasing jobs at anything, in office or in store.
Not so keen on wages now, but the labor must be light.
The boss a tender-hearted guy, and the hours of work all right.
A man can't work his life away—who wants to be a slave?
A man must have some fun at times, must spend instead of save.
He won't take any job that comes—he's far too wise a chap—
That's the fellow you all know still looking for a snap.

Looking for a pick-up job to earn a scanty meal.
Lads he knew in earlier days—champs, he thought them then—
Pass him by in autos now, solid business men.
Friends he had now dodge away when they see him come.
(Ever know a friendship last when one turns out a "bum"?)
Now he has no work to do—who would trust the chap?
That's the guy you used to know who hunted for a snap.

Lost Chances

By MARK MASON

THE thing a fellow MIGHT have said,
But which he DIDN'T say,
Is subject of my gentle
Little homily today.
You all have felt, I'm very sure,
The irritating pain
Of knowing that a faded chance
Will not return again.

Landlady asks you if you'll take
Another plate of hash?
The pretty boarder eyes you 'neath
Her drooping dark eyelash;
Why couldn't you have thought to say,
With studied, calm repose,
"Dear madam, I do not approve
Rehashing daily woes."

A nervous lady says to you,
Narrating hidden fears,
"If any one had just said 'Boo'
I would have burst in tears."
The thing you might, but didn't say,
Because your wits were loose—
"If any one says 'Boo' to YOU,
He's no judge of a goose."

A man squints o'er your shoulder,
As you sit in tunnel train,
And reads the letter from your wife
You're looking at again;
Why is it, as he leaves the car,
You do not think to say:
"Please be around tomorrow,
For she writes me every day."
